To Evaluate U.S. Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will take a close look this week at U.S. strategy and tactics in Viet Nam, seeking to gauge what reinforcements will be needed to blunt the Communist offensive.

This, in sum, is the purpose of McNamara's first on-the-spot size up of the South Viet Nam war situation in 14 months.

He is to leave Wednesday night with a small party of top officials, including Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The mission will take about a week.

Scheduled to go with the defense chief are the newly designated ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge, and William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs.

President Johnson said Friday the U.S. military buildup will exceed the 75,000 men so far announced. It could go beyond 100,000 men by late summer—more than four times as many Americans as were in Viet Nam at the first of the year.

Some sources suggested a possible speed-up in a tentative plan calling for more than 129,000 U.S. troops to be in Viet Nam as of Oct. 1.

Ultimately, the total may go much higher.

The assessment of Communist gains is a somber one. In the past six months, the Reds have cut virtually all the important road and rail communications. They have isolated parts of the country. And they have extended control over a larger percentage of South Viet Nam's population.

U.S. paratroopers and Marines recently have engaged in larger scale fights with the Viet Cong.

These U.S. troops have been committed to battle because the introduction of American air power, greater fire power and mobility have not been enough to give the South Vietnamese forces the edge they need to turn back the Communists.

The United States is prodding South Viet Nam to increase its armed forces by about 100,000 men from the present 550,000.

But that's about the limit of South Viet Nam's ability to muster more soldiers.

Thus, if more combat troops are needed to carry out the strategy, the United States may have to supply them—hopefully, with help from some other countries.

The strategy now unfolding envisions operating out of a number of secure enclaves along the South China Sea and elsewhere—enclaves centering on ports and bases being developed by U.S. logistical forces.

The strategy calls for helicopter-borne U.S. troops to hopscotch around the country, hitting the Communists constantly wherever they can be located.

LBJ Calls July 9th An Apex

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson waded through a batch of resignations and appointments Saturday and in the process lost his U.S. Information Agency director and named a new secretary of the Air Force.

And on a day of mingled work and relaxation around the LBJ Ranch, Johnson predicted that July 9—the date of Senate passage of a health and hospital care bill and House passage of a voting rights measure—"will be the Everest of this session."

The President described House action on a measure designed to reinforce the right of the Negro to the ballot as "a victory for every American who believes the strength of our democracy rests on the right of every citizen to share in its direction."

But the top-ranking Negro in the executive branch of the government, Carl T. Rowan, is stepping out as director of the U.S. Information Agency to resume a career in journalism.

Rowan was one of Johnson's first major appointees and, presidential aides said, the first to leave. He was sworn in as head of the USA, which spreads information on America through foreign lands, on Feb. 28, 1964. No successor has been chosen.

Jury Indicts California Pair For Kidnaping

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A federal grand jury swiftly indicted two ex-convicts Saturday for kidnaping California's finance director and his family, and a prosecutor filed a charge that carries the death penalty.

Judge Sherrill Halbert of U.S. District Court charge to Wilford Marion Gray, 30, and Carl Cleatus Bowles, 24, after the grand jury issued the indictments after 35 minutes of deliberation.

The judge appointed attorneys and set July 21 to hear the prisoners' pleas. The two are accused of a four-day crime spree that included murder, rape and robbery.

Sacramento County Dist. Atty. John M. Price filed a complaint under California's Little Lindbergh Law, charging kidnaping of finance Director Hale Champion, his wife and daughter for the purpose of robbery and causing bodily harm. A conviction could mean death in the San Quentin gas chamber.

The Oregon county where the convicts are accused of brutally slaying a young deputy sheriff was competing for a chance to try the two men. The trail of crime started only days after they were released from the Oregon state prison.

There was a robbery and rape in Tigard, Ore., followed by the robbery of a Portland bank, the slaying of the law officer, and kidnaping of six persons who were abducted into California as hostages before they were released unharmed.

Gray and Bowles were being held in Sacramento County Jail under $100,000 bond each. Bail has been set in Oregon on the federal kidnaping charges at $150,000 each.

U.S. Atty. Cecil F. Poole has said he assumes the men will be tried in Sacramento.

Gray and Bowles, after threatening to kill their hostages—the Champion family—were shot out with police Friday, surrendered meekly to two California highway patrolmen a few hours later.

JUST IMAGINE, NO CARATS! A nine-day ban on all forms of motor traffic began in this Italian spa resort Saturday to see how people react to quiet, no fumes and complete safety in the streets.

Montecatini, between Pisa and Florence, has a population of 14,000. About 1,200 vehicles a day will be affected.

Queen, Daughter Are Well; King Is Exhausted

CORFU, Greece (AP)—Queen Anne-Marie and her newborn daughter were reported doing very well Saturday, but King Constantine had to take to his bed, exhausted.

Early Saturday the queen, 18, the world's youngest, gave birth to a 9-pound, 11-ounce girl, who becomes heiress to the throne of Greece.

A medical bulletin said it was a normal birth "and Her Majesty and the newborn child are doing very well."

But a palace official said the king, 25, exhausted from an all-night vigil and excitement, had retired for a rest.

Constantine, wearing a surgical mask, was in the delivery room for the birth—a specially prepared room in the summer palace on this Ionian island.

Immediately afterward, Constantine telephoned Premier George Papandreou in Athens, touching off a 21-gun salute and the pealing of church bells.

Dressed in an open-neck shirt and slacks, the grinning monarch hastened to the gates of the palace, where a crowd was waiting and shouted: "It's a girl!"

Two municipal bands marched and played in the Corfu streets as Constantine left the palace and went to a radio station where he broadcast the birth announcement message to Greece.

As church bells echoed across Corfu's green hills and valleys, people ran into the street in celebration. Congratulations flowed in from around the world.

Anne-Marie's mother, Queen Ingrid of Denmark, Constantine's mother, Queen Mother Frederika, and Crown Princess Irene, Constantine's sister, also were present at the birth.

The queen's father, King Frederik IX of Denmark, will fly to Corfu next week to see his first grandchild.

N. VIETS NOW HAVE FIFTH MISSILE SITE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Five sites for anti-aircraft missiles are being prepared in the vicinity of Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam.

This is one more than the figure used by a State Department spokesman last week.

It was learned that the five sites are in position to guard Hanoi from U.S. air attack. The State Department also mentioned Haiphong, a major port about 55 miles east of Hanoi, as guarded by such missile sites.

For the most part, the sites spotted by U.S. reconnaissance aircraft are ranged south of Hanoi, about 15 miles away.

U.S. authorities are not concerned about these sites, considering them of minor importance unless a decision is made to strike at Hanoi itself—which is considered unlikely for political reasons.

So far U.S. bombers have come no closer than 40 miles to the North Vietnamese capital in the almost daily raids which began in early February.

British Doctors Ask Fees

SWANSEA, Wales (AP)—British doctors Saturday threatened a mass walkout from the national free health scheme unless they are permitted to charge consultation fees—and thus discourage hypochondriacs and malingerers.

A resolution to this effect was passed by voice vote at the annual conference of the British Medical Association after one of the 500 delegates, Dr. Alan L. Bussey, told the meeting:

"Let there be no mistake—the present system of free access has resulted in a national soup kitchen of health."

Another delegate, Dr. D. L. Williams, said a certain amount of abuse of the right to free visits to doctors was expected but "we now know that we do 10 per cent of our work on 4 per cent of our patients."

Dr. Williams said this has "corroded the idealism of general practice and interfered with the service given to the genuinely sick."

Representatives of the medical association have been negotiating with the Health Ministry for months for improved pay and working conditions. The ministry already has turned down one plea that general practitioners be permitted to charge for consultations.

Dr. J. C. Cameron, chairman of the BMA committee which has been carrying on the negotiations, asked the delegates:

"If I go back and say to the Health Ministry that you are insisting on such payment and the answer is again 'no' are you prepared to make this a resignation issue?"

There was a loud chorus of "yes" from the delegates.

MURDER SUSPECT RELEASED ON BOND

CHICAGO (AP)—Miss Joyce Long, 28, charged with the murder of a Florida automobile dealer, was released Saturday on a $10,000 bond.

Criminal Court Judge Herbert C. Paschen gave this explanation for the bond, rare in murder cases:

"Since the woman called the police and in view of the deceased's statement, I think she is entitled to bail before her trial for murder. There is a chance that it may not end up to be a murder trial. It may be manslaughter or something else. The evidence is sufficient to set bond."

Miss Long is charged with shooting Cedric Ringer, 32, president of the Ringer Motor Co. of St. Petersburg, Fla., after a quarrel in her apartment July 7.

Sgt. James C. Holub, a policeman called to the scene, testified in court that Ringer told him the shooting was "not really her fault. I shouldn't have roughed her up." Holub also said he found bruises on Miss Long's left arm.

Miss Long has been arrested nine times on prostitution charges since 1962, authorities said. Detective Joseph Leonard said records did not show whether she had ever been convicted.

Rear Explosion Is Attributed In Air Crash

100 MILE HOUSE, B.C. (AP)—Investigators said Saturday they were convinced an explosion in the rear toilet-luggage section caused Thursday's crash of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane in which 52 persons died.

The authorities, who declined use of their names, said they found black smudges and other evidence of a blast on the left side of the four-engine DC6B airliner.

"The left side toilet, made of stainless steel, was crumpled like tissue paper," one investigator said in an interview with a Vancouver Sun reporter.

"The floor was blown out by a tremendous force and there were black smudges around the toilet."

"The lavatory bulkhead (wall) and the fuselage in this area were blown out. Rivets on the side of the plane were sheared off."

Auto Heads Answer Unsafe Car Claims

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry will send some of its biggest wheels to Washington this week to answer charges it has dragged its feet on traffic safety.

Presidents of General Motors, Ford and American Motors head the list of witnesses who will appear before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn.

Ribicoff, during a preliminary three-day hearing last March, charged the industry had not done all possible in the field of auto safety. He expressed alarm at the nation's increasing annual traffic death toll which reached 47,000 last year.

The General Services Administration July 1 publicized a list of 17 safety devices which must be on all cars the industry supplies to federal agencies, effective Sept. 28, 1966.

The GSA items ranged from an exhaust control system to limit the flow of contaminating gases into the atmosphere to mandatory outside rearview mirrors. GSA buys about 37,000 cars a year.

General Motors stole some of the thunder from the upcoming hearings when it announced Wednesday that six of the GSA items would be standard equipment in 1966 GM cars.

American Motors said practically the same thing Friday. Chrysler said it would have "a number of additional safety items as standard features on its 1966 models."

Ford Motor Co. said its position will be made clear before the Ribicoff committee.

General Motors is scheduled to provide the leadoff witnesses early Tuesday.

GM President James M. Roche will be joined by GM Board Chairman Frederic G. Donner and Vice President Harry F. Barr, head of GM's engineering staff, as witnesses.

On Wednesday, Chrysler's Harry Chesbrough, vice president product planning, and Virgil Boyd, group vice president domestic automotive, will share the witness stand. Chrysler President Lynn A. Townsend notified the committee he had a previous commitment that day.

American Motors' President Roy Abernethy will head the Thursday witnesses, with Ford President Arjay Miller, Ford's No. 2 man, on the stand Friday.

Two N. Viet Fighters Downed In U.S. Raid

K.C. Hunt Continues For Girl, Kidnaper

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—It was just a week ago Saturday that the Clinton family of neighboring Independence, Mo., returned from a happy vacation in California.

Russell, his wife, Betty, and their two daughters, Denise, 9, and Diana, 6, told friends and relatives about the many things they had seen. For Russell it was a restful break in his job as the service manager for an automobile company.

Now Denise—blue-eyed, red-haired, with freckles across her nose—is missing.

She was kidnapped last Thursday morning by man who held up her grandparents at a motel they operate.

An intensive search of the wooded area around the motel and a checkout of many tips have failed to uncover any clues. There has been no response to pleas on television by Betty Clinton for the safe return of her daughter.

Eight Army helicopters joined more than 100 volunteers and police Saturday in an intensive search near the motel.

As hope dims, the FBI is searching for Robert Lee Hays, 32, a former mental patient, whose picture was described by the grandparents as resembling the kidnaper.

Hays was spending last Wednesday night with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chelcie Reynolds. They manage the Great Plains Motel in the extreme northwest section of Kansas City.

The couple has 15 grandchildren, who take turns visiting with them. Last Wednesday night, Denise was taking her turn—just an overnight stay. She was sleeping in a room just off the lobby. The Reynolds were in an adjoining room.

About 2 a.m., Mrs. Reynolds heard the lobby buzzer and got up to admit a tall, dark-haired man about 30 years old, who asked for a single room, then drew a revolver and announced: "This is a holdup."

As he left, the bandit shoved the gun next to Reynolds' face and warned: "Don't make any funny moves or I'll kill you."

A few minutes after they heard the front door click shut, the couple freed themselves and called police.

Then came the shock. Mrs. Reynolds looked into the adjoining room and saw Denise was gone.

The distraught grandparents have looked at many pictures of suspects.

After being shown one of Hays, Mrs. Reynolds said: "I have looked at a lot of photographs but this one looks more like the man than any of the others."

Hays was identified several years ago as the man who broke into nine Kansas City apartments. But charges against him were dismissed later so he could be sent to a hospital for psychiatric care. He was released from a state hospital in February 1964.

Hays also has been sought recently on a federal warrant charging him with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on a robbery charge in Topeka, Kan.

Pushes Session Closing Despite Johnson Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is pressing Congress to enact this year as much of his legislative program as possible in order to shorten its 1966 election-year session.

But Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana still is aiming for adjournment by Labor Day, even if that means postponing action on some presidential proposals until next year.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Committee, disclosed Saturday that Johnson pointed out at a recent White House conference that the more work Congress does now, the less likely to have to do next year when all House and 34 Senate seats will be at stake in the elections.

Magnuson said, however, that Johnson was not insisting either that Congress lengthen its current session or that it act on every one of his recommendations before it quits.

Mansfield noted that, with actions this week, Congress has enacted or brought near to final action what he called the "big four" of presidential recommendations. He listed these as Appalachia aid, educational aid for grade and high schools, voting rights and health and hospital care for the elderly.

Hanging over the session is the threat of a filibuster by Senate liberals against a proposed constitutional amendment to permit the voters of each state to decide if they wish to apportion one house of their legislature on a basis other than that of population.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois is having trouble getting this out of the Senate Judiciary Committee and it could die there.

Still on the agenda for action in this session are measures to provide a housing program with rent subsidies, create an urban affairs department, double the antipoverty program and provide aid to higher education.

Harris Wofford, associate director of the Peace Corps, said the program is a pilot experiment which could lead to an international peace corps.

He said the corps has provided a badly needed "exchange of light" between countries, "but so far it has all been outgoing."

"This program would make the corps a real two-way street, which is what we've always hoped it would be," he said.

The program was set up by the U.S. and Indian governments and will be financed by the two governments and by American private foundations.

Wofford said the five Indians who have arrived in the United States within the last two weeks, will be assigned to work in slum areas with Volunteers in Service to America—VISTA—the domestic Peace Corps. They will not actually be a part of that program, but will be paid on the same basis—a living allowance and $50 a month to be given them when their service is complete.

The five trainees, selected by the Indian government, all have at least one college degree and all have considerable experience in community action and social work.

They are Mrs. Stawant B. Singh, 46, from Delhi; S. D. Tyagi, 36, Etawah, Uttar Pradesh; L. K. Gupta, 34, Lucknow, Uttar Pradesh; M. K. Pathik, 27, New Delhi, and Krishna Pantankam, 32, Bombay.

COUNTRY MUSIC STAR IN SERIOUS CONDITION SPARTA, Tenn. (AP)—Country music star Roy Acuff and two companions were injured Saturday in a two-car collision on rain-slick U.S. 70, west of Sparta.

The attending physician, Dr. Donald Bradley, said Acuff is in serious condition with broken ribs, pelvis and collarbone.

Guitar player Harold B. Shot Jackson was listed by Bradley as in critical condition with fractures of the skull, ribs and pelvis.

The third victim in the Acuff party was Mrs. Agnes June Burdette, 26, who sings under the name of June Stearns. Her injuries were not believed as serious as the others.

Penetrate Deep Into North Viet

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Air Force Phantom jets, supporting a bombing strike deep in North Viet Nam, knocked down a pair of attacking Communist MIG fighters with air-to-air missiles Saturday, a U.S. spokesman reported. Other Air Force planes made their deepest strike yet into the North.

The U.S. spokesman said the MIGs—identified by the U.S. pilots as Korean War vintage MIG17s—pounced on the flight of four F4C Phantoms and fired cannon bursts at two of them. The MIG fire was off the target and the Phantom pilots countered with two missiles that hit home.

The MIGs were presumed to have been North Vietnamese. The bag brought to five the number of MIGs claimed by U.S. pilots in the Vietnam war. U.S. Navy Phantom pilots downed two MIGs June 17 about 80 miles south of Hanoi and pilots of propeller-driven Navy Skyraiders downed one of two MIGs three days later.

U.S. Navy pilots have a "probable" MIG kill to their credit. This resulted from an air clash near Red China's Hainan Island April 9. Four Navy Phantoms encountered four MIGs in that fight and pilots said one of the MIGs was afire when it vanished in heavy clouds.

The Air Force Phantoms—among the fastest planes in the U.S. arsenal—were flying cover for six U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs attacking the Yen Yen ammunition dump late in the afternoon.

The Phantoms carry a pilot and a radar man.

U.S. spokesmen gave this account: The planes in the support group picked up the MIGs on their radar detection equipment. The MIGs turned toward the U.S. planes, dropped their external fuel tanks and fired their cannon at two planes. With that, two U.S. planes in the flight scored hits with missiles.

One of the MIGs was seen to plunge straight down and crash, trailing white smoke from its engine. A large explosion occurred aboard the second MIG, which slipped into clouds and then plunged to the ground.

The spokesmen said all the American planes returned safely. They said the raid on Yen Yen resulted in five buildings destroyed and two damaged.

In other air action, four F105 jets destroyed two bridges and five buildings in an ammunition dump 85 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Ground action apparently was light. A U.S. spokesman said Vietnamese forces killed 13 guerrillas and captured a score more in an operation 35 miles south of Saigon in Go Cong Province. A U.S. helicopter gunner was killed in the assault.

Catholic Press Discusses Topic Of Luci Baptism

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP)—The baptismal rite marking the entry of Luci Baines Johnson into the Roman Catholic Church was a matter of discussion Saturday in several diocesan newspapers.

Generally the Catholic publications saw the procedure as theologically unnecessary. But they said it has been a widespread practice. And they deplored the publicity surrounding it.

Some of them also emphasized that the individual episode should not be viewed as an index of over-all interchurch relationships.

The Evangelist of the Albany, N.Y., diocese, said the outburst about the affair gave the impression that "the whole ecumenical movement is suddenly being brought to a halt."

The editorial added, "The foundations upon which the efforts toward Christian unity are built would be pathetically unstable if an incident of this nature could cause them to crumble."

Roman Catholicism recognizes properly administered baptism in any church as valid. Church leaders have regularly cited baptism as the basic tie binding all Christians together.

The President's daughter had been baptized in the Episcopal Church when she was a child.

Taking note of this, the Rev. Edmond Bliven, editorial page editor of the Catholic Sentinel, official paper of the Archdiocese of Portland, Ore., and the diocese of Baker, Ore., commented:

"There is no reason to question the validity of Episcopal baptisms and therefore no reason for 'baptizing' converts from the Episcopal Church even conditionally."

Some Protestants, notably Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike of California, had objected to the "rebaptism" of Miss Johnson as a slur against his church, a sacrilege and a denigration of a previous sacrament.

ASHLAND FAMILIES

ENTERTAIN MANY VACATION GUESTS

ASHLAND — Mrs. Helen Isenhardt of Peoria is visiting at the home of her sisters, Mrs. Grace Thompson and Mrs. Mayme Reiser in this city.

Roy Christie, a former Ashland resident, has returned to his home in Hollywood, Calif. after a short visit here with friends.

Dennis Sonters of Ft. Pierce, Florida, is here for an indefinite visit with his grandmother, Mrs. Lorene Sonters, and other relatives.

Mrs. Sherman Todder is visiting at the home of her daughter and family in Seymour, Ind.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Robison took the latter's brother-in-law, Paul Coker, who has been visiting here at the Robison home for two weeks, to his home in Wayne City in the southern part of the state.

Ronnie Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newell of Pleasant Plains, fell and broke his arm Sunday evening, while visiting here with his grand- mother, Mrs. Rowena Newell.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Reynolds there the latter part of this month. Gerald Gill has purchased a home in Virginia.

Jack Wankel has purchased the Arthur Lynn, Sr., home near the James Park in the east end of this city. Mr. Lynn and his wife will soon move to Petersburg.

Mrs. Gilbert Bottoms has been admitted to St. John's hospital, Springfield.

Earl Adams and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Artie Walker, attended the funeral services of the latter's cousin, Mrs. Jack Strothman of Modesto, held Tuesday afternoon at the Stults Funeral home in Palmyra.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Watkins spent the weekend in Michigan at the home of the latter's brother and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Ringler, who also visited in Jacksonville, Mich., with their niece, Mrs. Harriett Griffith and Wayne City in the southern part of the state.

Mrs. Wanda Stephenson Tedder started to work at the First State Bank in the city Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watkins bought livestock and machinery worth millions of pounds, but the total was not known yet.

DO AS I SAY

NOT AS I DO

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — Hardware store owner John O'Neill gave a convincing demonstration to a customer buying a power lawn mower.

"Don't ever do this," O'Neill said, putting his hand under the shield around the mower blade.

The blade cut off the ends of four of O'Neill's fingers.

COVENTRY, England (AP) — Buyers from 35 countries set an export record at the Royal English Agricultural Show.

Director Francis Pemberton said they bought livestock and machinery worth millions of pounds, but the total was not known yet.

Class Of '66 Float Judged Best At White Hall Lions Homecoming

WHITE HALL — The President's parade at the 47th annual Lions Club Homecoming got off to a late start Friday night, July 2nd, with the colors of the various service organizations and their Auxiliaries en masse.

The horse show was held Friday evening at the Lions Park following the parade of entries in the show. Saturday the carnival was in full swing, with a large number of drum and bugle corps were in the parade, including the Black Knights from Belleville, Piasa Indians from Alton, and several high school bands, and the Ansar Shrine Band from Springfield.

The decorated floats, though not as numerous as in past years, were beautiful. Receiving first was the "class of 1966" titled, "Illini"; second, the Lions Club was T. E. Coulson of Wood River, Ill. The final evening's event was a fire-capsule of Gemini 4 with Becky Lyman as the astronaut; third, The DeMolay and Rainbow Girls titled "Citizens of Tomorrow" and fourth, "A Message to a Nation" by the First Baptist Church. Other churches having floats were the Presbyterian and Methodist of this city.

Kiwanis Honors Drach

Ill. Sen. George E. Drach (second from left) is presented a Kiwanis "appreciation certificate" by program chairman Ernest Savage, following an address by Sen. Drach to the Kiwanis Club Thursday noon. Looking on are club members F. Harris Rowe, representative in the Illinois House; and Hugh P. Green, who was a representative for 28 years until retiring in 1961—including two terms as speaker of the House from 1945 through 1949.

"This past session was exhausting, and it saw many new concepts for the role of state government proposed. The problem of finance and fiscal responsibility proved to be a major problem during the session, and Gov. Kerner now claims the budget is $99.2 million short," Sen. Drach said.

Everett G. Reynolds, retired Jacksonville farmer, became a member of the club. Induction ceremonies were conducted by Wilbur B. Rogers.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM GIVEN IN BROWN COUNTY

MT. STERLING — 4-H Achievement Day was held at the Presbyterian Church in Hersman Wednesday. The regular meeting of the home extension unit was held with the 4-H girls attending as guests, bringing food and dresses they had made.

Mt. Sterling Locals Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Bump, Mr. and Mrs. Collis Clark, and son Mike, and Danny Parker, vacationed at Bagnel Dam in the Missouri Ozarks last week-end and visited the Bob Nolan Country Music Hall. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Gaddis and son Don of Ottawa have been visiting relatives in Mt. Sterling.

Mrs. Mae Cannon of Mt. Sterling is attending a family reunion in Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. Cannon is a college house mother, employed in Jacksonville.

Vickie Price of Carrollton is visiting Michele Elbus, of Mt. Sterling. Joyce Elbus has been visiting Cheri Price at Carrollton.

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?
There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.
The hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.
In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth.
The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis, it operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

Nobis-Key

ARENZVILLE — Of interest in the Arenzville community is the recent wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Key of Santa Fe, Missouri, and Dennis Eldore Nobis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldore Nobis formerly of Arenzville and now of Santa Fe. The ceremony was conducted by Father Salvator Fagiolo June 12, at the Church of St. Frances Cabrini in Paris, Missouri.

Carl Tawney of Perry, cousin of the bride, served as lector during the mass. Acolytes were Ray Key, brother of the bride, and Tony Clark of Arenzville, cousin of the groom. The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Key of Santa Fe, was attended by a classmate, Miss Janet Poage of Santa Fe. A classmate of the groom, Howard Ridgeway of Mexico, Missouri, served as best man.

Ringbearers for the double ring service were a sister and a cousin of the bride, Teresa Key and Darrell Wilkerson. Vickie Key, sister of the bride, and Becky Clark, cousin of the groom, were flowergirls. Guests were seated by Randy Nobis of Arenzville, cousin of the groom and Gary Dunkle, cousin of the bride, from Santa Fe. Organ music was provided by Miss Debbie Kendrick of Mexico, Missouri, and the soloist was Jane Ann Nobis, sister of the groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white Chantilly lace. Her shoulder length veil of illusion was held in place by a crown of satin and pearls. She carried a cascade of carnations and stephanotis.

Miss Poage wore a full length gown of pale blue silk brocade, and she carried a bouquet of white daisies. The young girls in the wedding party wore short dresses styled to match the gown of the bride's attendant. They all wore corsages of carnations and short blue headpieces.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Eldore Nobis

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Key chose a costume of rose pink lame with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Nobis wore a sheath dress of champagne colored lace over taupe silk with beige accessories and a corsage of daisies.

A reception was held in the social room of the church following the ceremony with aunts of the bride assisting. Mrs. Elliot Key, Mrs. Tommy Dunkle, Mrs. Ralph Wilkerson, and Mrs. Lloyd Crigler.

Miss Sandra Crigler, cousin of the bride, assisted at the gift table and guests were served by Sandra Moritz of Paris, Mary Lou Penza of Jacksonville, and Sara Clark of Arenzville.

After a honeymoon at Lake of the Ozarks, the couple left for Indianapolis, Ind., where Mr. Nobis began a four-month training period for a position with the Federal Department of Agriculture.

The bride is a 1965 graduate of Paris High school and the groom graduated June 8 from the University of Missouri at Columbia where he received a bachelor of science degree in the College of Agriculture.

Honored guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. Carrie DeOrnellis of Paris, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Clark of Arenzville, grandparents of the groom. Guests were registered by Miss Mary Sue Levings of Paris.

Guests attended the wedding from Mexico, Monroe City, Perry, Santa Fe, Paris, Hallsville, Boonville, and St. Joseph in Missouri, and from Arenzville, Jacksonville, Hopedale, Canton, and Chicago, Ill.

On Friday evening before the ceremony, the parents of the groom hosted a rehearsal dinner for 25 guests at the Mark Twain Cafe near Paris, Missouri.

NICHOLS PARK LADIES DAY GOLF NEWS

The rains came, but not until Tuesday afternoon, and so another Ladies Day at Nichols Park was enjoyed.

The regular play for the day was, low gorss, low net, and low putts. Along with the regular play some of the matches for the handicap tournament were played.

The winner for Tuesday's regular ladies day were as follows:

1st flight
Low gross — Fran Chumley
Low net — Betty Brown
Low putts — Betty Dyer
2nd flight
Low gross — Peggy Taylor
Low net — Sara Warner
Low putts — Della Birdsell
Although not all the matches were played for the first round of the handicap tournament, the following matches were played and here are the results:

1st flight
Evelyn Cruzan vs Betty Brown
Betty Dyer vs Rigi Fay
Blanche Reuck vs Joyce Perbix
Doris Walz vs Alpha Witham

Betty Meyer vs Marge Howard
Mary Ellen Glisson vs Fran Chumley

2nd flight
Mabel Ingels vs Sara Warner
Gratia Coultas vs Marge Walker
Suzie Tucker vs Lucille Eberhardt

The remaining matches are to be played before this Monday night. Then beginning Tuesday morning we will go into the second round of play. Check the sheet in the Pro Shop so you will know who you play and get in touch with them. But in the meantime if you can get a game of golf in between rains, I'll see you there — Fran Chumley.

For those picnic sandwiches, mix chopped hard-cooked eggs with ground cooked ham, sweet pickle relish and just enough mayonnaise or boiled dressing to moisten. This is an old-fashioned combination and oh, so good!

Dry macaroons and crush them so you have fine crumbs; fold the crumbs into sweetened whipped cream and use for a cake filling.

JERRY SYMONS, news director and disc jockey at Radio Station WLDS, is shown during a 15-minute live interview with The Lettermen Saturday afternoon. The interview was held at the Holiday Inn soon after a luncheon for Capitol officials and members of the community.

OVER THERE—Answers to the questions from visitors Saturday were given by Capitol workers on duty. Employees and their families toured the new plant Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon a sneak preview was held for invited guests. Public open house will be held this afternoon from one to four o'clock.

A REFRESHING pause for guests is available near the end of the tour of the new manufacturing facilities. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Sibert are shown discussing the tour with Earl Davis, center.

PRODUCTION FACILITIES at Capitol's new multi-million dollar manufacturing plant on By-Pass 104 and Lafayette road will be open from one to four o'clock this afternoon to the general public. Numerous guests were on hand for a preview inspection Saturday afternoon. Much of the machinery will be in operation this afternoon.

FREE RECORDS are presented to all guests who tour the new Capitol plant. Mr. and Mrs. John Bellatti are shown receiving their free record from Mickey Walker, an employee of the plant.

FIVE AWARDS were presented to members of the community by Alan Livingston, president of Capitol Records, for their initial and continuing efforts to attract the new industry to Jacksonville. Shown from left: George Jones, vice president; Theodore C. Rammekamp, first president of the Industrial Corporation; Glenn E. Wallich, chairman of the board; Mayor Byron Holkenbrink; Mr. Livingston; James Coultas, one of early members of Industrial Corporation; Paul Peiper, general contractor; Elmer Lukeman, current president of the Industrial Corporation; and Forrest Dyer, plant manager. The five members of the community who received the awards contributed greatly toward Capitol's selection of Jacksonville as the site for the third manufacturing plant. The award was a large plaque with one of the first records produced at Jacksonville attached and a gold plate inscribed.

GEORGE JONES, vice president in charge of manufacturing, explains some of the details involved in the production of records to Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Burgard.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — Day-to-day prices in the butcher hog market were little changed this week although it showed nothing of a firming trend.

After starting with a peak of $25.50 on Tuesday, prices never topped above $25.25 thereafter and some days that was paid very sparingly. However, the supply was rather liberal each day and for the four trading days of the week the offerings amounted to 22,000 head, equal to the total for five days last week.

The week's average price was estimated at $24.40 compared with $24.26 last week when the top for a single day reached $25.75.

The cattle supply for the holiday week fell short of the previous week's total by more than 3,000 head but slaughter steers were 25 to 50 cents lower. Mixed high choice and prime showed the extreme decline. On Friday, prime grade went at $28.75 compared with $29.25 on Tuesday, the week's high. A week ago, they topped at $29.75.

In the sheep market, spring slaughter lambs sold as much as $1 a hundredweight higher, largely because of a considerably curtailed supply.

CHICAGO (AP) — Following is a summary of the hog, cattle and sheep market for the week:

Hogs—Compared with Friday last week — barrows and gilts about steady. Sows 25-50 and lower. Barrows and gilts: on the close, No. 1 and 2 190-225 lbs. 24.75-25.00, 75 head brought 25.25. Mixed 1-3 190 - 230 lbs. closed 24.25-24.75, 2 and 3 230-280 lbs. 24.00 - 24.50, 250-280 lbs. 23.50-24.00.

Possible Highs In Crop Output May Up Surplus

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of a new record production of crops this year brightened farm income prospects Saturday but darkened government hopes of reducing some troublesome surpluses.

The Agriculture Department's first major crop report of the year shows farmers had planted almost as much land as in 1963 when production set a record that still holds. With technology pushing acre yields upward and given good weather, the crop volume this year could set a new record.

Generally, the larger the crop the larger is the farm income.

Forecasts indicated that corn and wheat crops will equal or exceed demand, a development which would thwart administration efforts to reduce surpluses of these grains. Both are being grown under programs of offering government payment to growers who reduce plantings so that room might be found in the market for some of the extra supplies.

The corn crop was forecast at 3.9 billion bushels, 10 per cent above last year and two per cent larger than average. The wheat crop was indicated at 1,354,000,000 bushels, 5 per cent more than last year and 14 per cent more than average. A big increase of 12 per cent in the soybean acreage was indicated over last year's record high acreage. However, no forecast of production of this crop will be given until next month. But a record volume appears to be assured.

The report indicated that larger production is in store for oats, flaxseed, hay, dry beans, late summer potatoes, sweet potatoes, hops, peaches, grapes and apricots. Smaller volumes were indicated for barley, rye, dry peas, tobacco, sugar beets, sugar cane, apples, and pears.

The report said crop prospects on July 1 were rated as good to excellent over more of the nation than a year earlier.

CROP PRODUCTION OUTLOOK IS BETTER

CHICAGO (AP) — The outlook for production of major crops improved almost daily this week and imparted a generally bearish influence to the grain futures market.

Nearly all commodities were under selling pressure most of the time and finished with small to broad losses on the Board of Trade. The only net gain was the July new standard grade wheat and it was up only a minimum fraction.

Most declines were a cent a bushel or more with July soybeans down 6 cents but brokers said the trading there was largely of a technical character and hardly related to any commercial or weather influences.

Reports of good rainfall over much of the Midwest improved the outlook for corn and soybeans particularly and induced a good deal of short selling in the pits. Moreover, a private crop report early in the week confirmed opinion of most traders that the yields probably would average as good or better than in 1964.

The soybean crop, expected to be a bin-buster at about 800 million bushels, would be about 100 million more than produced last year. However, the corn yield might be less than requirements but with a large carry over dealers could see no cause for concern.

Wheat continued to attract a slowly but steadily increasing speculative interest after having been almost completely ignored for several months.

Frequent harvest delays because of heavy rainfall and reports of diseased plants in much of the major producing area induced a revival of trade at firming prices. Speculators quickly liquidated, though, when the weather cleared and the harvest resumed.

The usual heavy harvest-time hedge selling has not materialized and movement of the grain to market also was too slow to attract more than scattered short selling.

At the end of the week, soybeans were 14-16 cents a bushel lower than a week ago, July 2.87-374; new standard grade wheat 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, July 1.42-1/4; corn 1/4-1/2 lower, July 67 1/2 cents; rye 1/2 to 1 cent lower, July 1.10-1/4.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market failed in this holiday-shortened week to follow through on last week's strong rally.

Trading fell off sharply and the averages managed to post only small gains for the week.

For most of the week institutional demand was lacking and investors nursed their war scares as the fighting in Viet Nam escalated.

Volume for the four-day week totaled 15,618,870 shares against 33,860,195 for the previous week and 25,594,771 a year earlier.

The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 2.6 for the week to 323.7. The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained 4.23 for the week to 879.49.

On Wednesday, the market dragged through its most lethargic session in nearly two years. Volume fell to 3.03 million shares, lowest since 2.94 million shares changed hands Aug. 2, 1963.

The market showed its only spark of the week on Thursday, when it pulled out of the doldrums with a sudden sharp rally in late trading. Institutional buying and short covering were credited for the gain.

The five most active stocks this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Polaroid, up 5 1/2 at 65 on 306,800 shares; Fairchild Camera, up 5 at 47; Control Data, up 1/2 at 39; General Motors, off 1/2 at 97 1/2; and Chrysler, off 1 at 46 3/4.

The five most active stocks this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

National Video, up 1 1/2 at 42 1/2 on 130,500 shares; Syntex, up 4 1/2 at 79 1/2; Asamera Oil, off 1-1/2 at 1 13-1/2; New Idria Mining, off 1/4 at 3 3/4; and Computer Sciences, up 6 1/2 at 57 1/2.

Ghana Woman

Guest of League Members Here

By KAY ODAFFER

Miss Rebecca Agroh, a social worker from Ghana, Africa, is a guest of members of the Jacksonville League of Women Voters the first two weeks in July. Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, above left, and Mrs. Roy McClintock admire the material of Miss Agroh's costume.

Miss Agroh is in the United States through the Women's Africa Committee to participate in the organization's annual summer community service program for African women.

Fifteen women from Ghana and Sierra Leone attended classes on the campus of Connecticut College for Women in New London, Connecticut. Following the classes, each woman was sponsored on a field trip by the Overseas Education Fund of the League of Women Voters.

The purpose of the field trip is to acquaint the participant with various social and welfare organizations and their operation in the United States.

Miss Agroh was a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, 1400 Mound Avenue, from July 2 to July 10. She is now staying at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kooker, 801 Lincoln Avenue, and she will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nickel in Concord.

Miss Agroh, assistant mass education officer supervisor of women's work in the department of social welfare in Ghana, has been visiting the Morgan County Health Department, the Visiting Nurses Association, Project Headstart, the Illinois Department of Public Aid, and the Pathway School. She spoke to the International Relations class at MacMurray College.

Next week, Miss Agroh will visit the day care center in Springfield and the child and family service centers there. She will also observe 4-H activities in Concord with Mrs. Nickel.

ASHLAND — High winds and rain lashed Ashland Wednesday morning breaking large tree limbs and disrupting electric service for four hours.

While no major damage to property was reported, the high wind literally topped a tree near the residence of "Strawberry" DeGroot and split a tree in half at the Pat Devlin home.

The huge portion of the tree fell across the pavement narrowly missing the Bast residence. Large limbs were seen dangling from trees at the H. A. Volsmier home, John Reside home, in the Memorial and James parks.

The 18-inch augur on top of the grain bins at the Ashland Elevator was severely twisted by the wind and broke off, and roof damage was reported at the Blank residence, west of the laundromat.

Joe Stelte, who resides east of Ashland, said the wind ripped the roof from a machine shed at his farm.

Oscar King and Albert Terry, village employees, were out early Wednesday morning sawing, chopping and cleaning up the debris of the storm. CIPS crews worked throughout the morning hours to restore electric service.

News Notes
Mrs. Julia Jones has returned home from a few days visit in Barry, at the home of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Jones and two sons. Cecil has been school superintendent at Barry high school this past term. He has accepted a position at the Brindfield high school, where he will teach science and be General Council in high school.

He is working on his doctor's degree during the summer months at Western University at Macomb. After moving to Brindfield, he will go to Bradley Institute during the summer to complete his course. His wife will also teach in the Brindfield school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Cavett have returned to their home at Des Plaines, Ill., after a few days visit at the home of Miss Mae Atterberry.

Mrs. Cora Stockton, of this city, an independent dealer for Stanley Home Products, Inc., Westfield, Mass has returned home after attending the annual sales pilgrimage at the home office recently along with approximately 300 other Stanley dealers and managers from the Central region.

She spent three days at sales conferences, learning new merchandise presentations and sales techniques.

Mrs. Stockton was presented a silver cup for being one of the company's leading dealers in the entire Central Region during a recent sales campaign.

NL Picked Over AL In All-Star Action

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL — The National League, which once trailed 12-4 in this series, pulled up even at 17-17 last year by beating the American League 7-4 at New York Shea's Stadium on a three-run homer by Johnny Callison in the ninth inning. The dimensions of the Twins' park, 354 feet to left and 330 to right tend to accent the home run.

A sellout crowd of about 47,000 will jam newly enlarged Metropolitan Stadium for the first All-Star game ever played in the home park of the Twins.

Game time is 1 p.m. EST with network coverage (NBC) on both radio and television. In case of a postponement, Commissioner Ford Frick will announce the time and date of the rescheduled game.

Willie Stargell of Pittsburgh, rightfielder Hank Aaron and catcher Joe Torre of Milwaukee, first baseman Ernie Banks of Chicago and third baseman Richie Allen of Philadelphia.

If the big guns are silenced, the Nationals have fleet shortstop Maury Wills of Los Angeles, who is trying to break his own stolen base record, and Pete Rose, Cincinnati's fine second baseman, for finese.

Right fielder Rocky Colavito of Cleveland is the big gunner on the American League team that does not include a single New York Yankee in the starting line-up for the first time since 1943. Left fielder Willie Horton and shortstop Dick McAuliffe of Detroit, first baseman Moose Skoron of Chicago and second baseman Felix Mantilla of Boston, a Met reject, are other American League long ball threats. Third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, most Valuable Player in the league in 1964, high-average center fielder Vic Davallo of Cleveland and catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota round out the starting line-up.

Pitchers Named Monday

The starting pitchers will not be named until Monday but the National has an awesome array of flame-throwers—Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of Los Angeles, Jim Maloney and Sam Ellis of Cincinnati, Bob Veale of Pittsburgh, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Juan Marichal of San Francisco and Dick Farrell of Houston. Koufax and Veale are the only left-handers.

With Koufax, Ellis and Gibson due to work Sunday, the burden would seem to fall on the others, possibly Drysdale, who has started four All-Star games.

Gene Mauch of Philadelphia, managing the team, did not name any Phil pitchers.

Al Lopez of Chicago, manager of the American League squad, took only relief pitcher Eddie Fisher from his White Sox staff.

Probable AL Starters

Mel Stottlemyre of the Yankees or Milt Pappas of Baltimore probably will start although Lopez may select lefty Sam McDowell, Cleveland's strikeout ace, or Jim Grant of the hometown Twins.

Pete Richert of Washington and John O'Donoghue of Kansas City, two of the three southpaws on the staff, also are available along with relief man Bob Lee of Los Angeles.

The players vote for the starters, with the exception of pitchers, who are selected by the two All-Star managers. The managers also fill out the rest of the 25-man squads. All starters must play at least the first three innings, except pitchers, who cannot work more than three innings unless the game goes into overtime.

Both managers, incidentally, are subs for last year's pennant-winning pilots. Mauch is replacing Johnny Keane, who switched from the Cards to the Yanks, and Lopez is taking over for Yogi Berra, who took the pennant with the Yankees but was fired for his trouble.

DOUBLE TROUBLE—The best offensive combination in the major leagues? Some think the Milwaukee Braves have it with catcher Joe Torre (top) and outfielder Henry Aaron. Just a few percentage points separate them in the race for the National League batting title.

Dodgers Explode For 8-4 Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Ron Fairly drove in four runs, including three in a six-run fifth-inning explosion, as the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped Pittsburgh 8-4 Saturday.

The victory moved the Dodgers within three percentage points of the National League-leading Cincinnati Reds, who played Milwaukee in a night game.

Don Drysdale brought his record to 13-8 although he left the game in the sixth inning after the Pirates scored a run with two out on Jim Pagniaroni's single, a wild pitch, a walk and a double by Bob Bailey.

The Dodgers scored two runs in the first inning on Maury Wills' single, a double by Jim Gilliam, a sacrifice bunt and Fairly's sacrifice fly.

They put the game away in the fifth.

Jim Lefebvre started the uprising with a home run, and the Dodgers loaded the bases on Drysdale's double, Wills' single and a walk to Willie Davis. Fairly followed with a bases-clearing double and later scored on Lou Johnson's single.

The opening game of the tournament will be between the All-Star team of the American League and the team from Beardstown to be played on Tuesday, July 20, at 6:30 p.m.

The second game of the evening will be a contest between the Jacksonville National League and the Virginia All-Star Team with the approximate starting time being 8 p.m.

The National League All-Star team members are:

The manager of the National League team has not been named. The manager of the league champion automatically becomes the All-Star team manager and the Braves and Giants are still in the running for the league title.

The American League All-Star team members are:

Manager of the American League All-Star team will be George O'Connell and his coach will be Claude (Bud) Mansfield.

MIAMI WINS ANNUAL CITY TEAM TENNIS

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Miami won the annual National City Team Tennis Tournament Saturday, but runner-up New Orleans gained some consolation by taking four of six singles matches against the champions.

Miami collected 44 points, New Orleans 37. Chicago and St. Louis 30 each, Philadelphia 19, Charleston 15 and Louisville 6.

Miami went into the final play with the championship all but sewed up holding a seven-point advantage over New Orleans. But New Orleans players swept UCLA, and triple Maccabian champion Gary Gubner, head of a team of 38 men and three women named Saturday for the U.S. Maccabiah track and field team. The team will compete in the Seventh Maccabiah Games in Israel, Aug. 23-31.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gerry Ashworth, an Olympic gold medalist in 1964, Marc Savage, a 16-foot pole vaulter from UCLA, and triple Maccabian champion Gary Gubner, head of a team of 38 men and three women named Saturday for the U.S. Maccabiah track and field team. The team will compete in the Seventh Maccabiah Games in Israel, Aug. 23-31.

Mets Doing Something Right Now

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The difference was there—right from the start—two and a half floors above the lobby of the Chase Hotel in St. Louis.

An elevator was stuck.

Inside, 16 sweating, cursing baseball players were screaming and pushing every button in sight. Still the elevator did not move. The New York Mets were trapped—the day before their first game.

Four years later they are still trapped—in the National League basement—and the lease is a long one.

Nevertheless, as Maury Allen writes in his history of the Mets ("Now Wait a Minute Casey," Doubleday), New York loves everything about them.

Why?

The explanations vary.

"It is all Casey," said a New York college professor. "He is a man of nonsense and wisdom that we can all love. Casey Stengel is Don Quixote."

A college student has another reason:

"Protest, man, don't you get it? Against school and the Yankees and the draft and war and bombs and all that jazz. The Mets are the underdogs. They can't win. No matter what. Just like us."

If, as the college professor said, "Stengel is Don Quixote," then there are many candidates for Sancho Panza.

The most obvious is Marvin Eugene Throneberry whose initials endeared him to New Yorkers for life. Throneberry did not hit well and fielded even worse. "But in some ways," Allen writes, "he was a phenomenon all by himself, a legend in his own life, a curiosity for all to stare at, a humorist of much renown."

Tracy Stallard was another. He gave up the first home run to Roger Maris which made him a perfect Met.

Once during a fight in Milwaukee, Stallard rushed onto the field to help his teammates. With 40 guys slugging each other, there was Stallard laughing so hard he was near tears.

"I stumbled over something and I looked down," he said, "and there was the old man. I began laughing so hard I couldn't fight."

Then there was Grover D. Powell, the pitcher from Wyal, Wis., (pronounced "Why-ya-losing"), who told everyone his middle name was Demetrius "because my mother likes classics."

And Jay Hook, the pitcher with the master's degree who thought winning "was like plucking sweet cherries."

But still, the dominating figure is Casey Stengel who remarked that April day in St. Louis: "Someone is putting the whompy on us before we start."

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — San Francisco's Juan Marichal became the majors' second 14-game winner Saturday night, checking Philadelphia 7-0 on two hits for his seventh shutout of the season.

Willie Mays, the Giants' $105,000-a-year center fielder, and Philadelphia catcher Pat Corrales were injured in a first-inning collision at home plate. Both were taken to a hospital, but X rays were negative.

Marichal, bringing his record to 14-7, was tagged by Tony Gonzalez for a triple off the scoreboard in right center field with one out in the second. Gonzalez remained on third base as Marichal struck out Dick Stuart and Bobby Wine was out on a grounder.

Marichal then retired 13 in order before allowing a sixth inning walk. Cookie Rojas singled with two out in the ninth for the Phillies' other hit. The high-kicking right-hander struck out six and walked just one as he joined Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers as the majors' only 14-game winners.

CHICAGO (AP) — Fullback Ron Bull, 1962 National Football League rookie of the year, signed Saturday for his fourth season with the Chicago Bears.

Last year, Bull gained 320 yards on 86 carries. His best rushing season was 1963, when he produced 404 yards on 117 carries, despite midseason injury.

John Surtees of Britain, the reigning world champion, took third in a Ferrari. Mike Spence of Britain was fourth in a Lotus Climax. Scotland's Jackie Stewart was fifth in a BRM and Dan Gurney of Riverside, Calif., placed fifth in a Brabham.

A crowd of 104,000 watched the thriller, climaxed by Hill's stirring but futile rally over the closing miles.

Ellsworth Pitches Cubs By Cards, 5-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Dick Ellsworth, supported by Don Kessinger's two-run triple and Ed Bailey's bases-empty homer, recorded his 10th victory Saturday as the Chicago Cubs defeated St. Louis 5-3.

Ellsworth, 10-4, held the world champions to a pair of singles until the sixth when they spoiled his shutout. He wound up with a seven-hitter.

Carl Warwick, batting for starter Ray Washburn, led off the sixth with a double and after two outs went to third on Curt Flood's controversial hit to third baseman Ron Santo.

Santo speared the ball with his bare hand and rifled it to first, but Flood was called safe by umpire Tom Gorman. Ellsworth was so heated that he next pitch to Ken Boyer was wild, and Warwick scored.

The Cubs scored three times in the second. Santo doubled and came home when Dick Groat threw past first base on George Altman's grounder. A double by Bailey sent Altman to third, and both runners scored on Kessinger's triple to the left field wall.

Bailey's homer, his second of the season, came in the fourth.

Clarke Establishes Three-Mile Record

LONDON (AP) — Ron Clarke of Australia set the most fantastic of all his world records Saturday—12:52.4 for the three miles—in a history-making run at London's White City Stadium.

Another mighty track and field barrier was broken down. No man had ever cracked 13 minutes before.

The amazing 28-year-old Australian knocked eight seconds off his old record of 13:00.4. That was set at Compton, Calif., last month and is still awaiting ratification.

Clarke made his new mark on a track made heavy by rain. He ran the last three-quarters of a mile on his own, with no other runner within yards of him.

The 16,000 fans, crazy with excitement, rose from their seats and surged towards the barrier as the bell went for the last of the 12 laps.

Clarke came down the final straight lapping stragglers in the race.

The Australian also holds the world records or pending records for 10 miles, 10,000 meters about 6 1/4 miles and 5,000 meters 3 miles, 188 yards.

Clarke set the pace from the start, helped by Gerry Lindgren of Spokane, Wash. They ran so fast that experts thought they could never keep up the pace. Lindgren took second in 13:04.2—the fastest ever by an American.

The mile, loudly heralded, fizzles out on a damp track. Britain's Alan Simpson won in 4:01.9. Bob Day of Pasadena, Calif., was a sub-four-minute man who was regarded as Simpson's chief rival—was fifth in 4:04.1.

Mike Larrabee, 30-year-old Olympic gold medalist from Los Angeles, had to struggle over the last few yards to win the quarter-mile from John Adey, a 20-year-old Englishman. Both were clocked in 49.6, and photo-graphs decided the results.

Ray Cawley of Los Angeles, Olympic gold medalist, again beat Britain's John Cooper in the 440 yards hurdles. Cawley clocked 50.9 seconds. Cooper was the silver medalist at Tokyo.

Tommy Farrell, an Olympian from St. John's University of New York, sprinted in the stretch to win the half mile in 1:49.5. Britain's Chris Carter was second in 1:49.9.

Hershberger Triple Moves A's To 4-3 Edge

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mike Hershberger led off the ninth inning with a triple and scored on Rene Lachemann's fly ball, giving Kansas City a 4-3 victory over Detroit Saturday night.

The triumph ended the Athletics' eight-game losing streak.

Mickey Lolich then relieved Sherry and Lachemann promptly flied deep to Don Demeter in center field.

Detroit starter Denny McLain, seeking his seventh straight victory, ran his scoreless inning string to 20 before the Athletics scored a run in the seventh.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants and catcher Pat Corrales of Philadelphia were injured Saturday night in a collision at home plate. Both were taken to a hospital, where X-rays were negative.

Corrales appeared to be the more seriously injured and had to be carried off the field on a stretcher. It had been thought that he might have suffered a concussion.

Mays, back in the starting line-up after a one-day rest, was on first base with an infield single when Tom Haller hit a grounder to Richie Allen. The third baseman threw the ball past first, and Haller continued to second.

Mays, never pausing, raced around third and crashed into Corrales at the plate. The catcher dropped the throw from right fielder Johnny Callison, and both he and Mays lay sprawled on the ground.

Both benches quickly emptied as the players came to their aid.

Thomas Claimed By Houston Club

NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Thomas, fired by the Philadelphia Phillies after an on-the-field fight with teammate and batting star Richie Allen, was picked up Saturday by the Houston Astros.

The 36-year-old first baseman-outfielder was claimed by the Astros, who will pay the regular waiver price of $20,000.

Thomas and Allen had their celebrated set-to last Saturday night during batting practice at Philadelphia's Connie Mack Stadium, with several hundred fans looking on.

Allen, National League Rookie of the Year last season and a leading batter this year, and Thomas, a seldom-used sub, exchanged heated words before the 23-year-old third baseman threw a punch to the mouth.

Thomas countered by swinging the bat in his hands — clipping 11 Allen on the shoulder.

Start Play Monday

Release Pairings For Junior Tennis

Pairings for the Junior Division of the Jacksonville City Championship Tennis Tournament have been set up for play which starts this Monday after noon.

Ten Juniors entered the Men's singles and eleven entered the Women's singles event, after the Friday night deadline.

Tournament manager Don Houser set up the pairings and times Saturday. All matches, at least through the first three rounds of the single-elimination tourney, will be held on the old MacMurray concrete courts at the northwest corner of Beecher and Lorton.

Judges will be in attendance at each match. Houser has several assistants who will assist in running the tournament.

Pairings in Junior Men's Singles:

Monday - 3 p.m.—Bob Bonjean, Jr. vs Tom Scott; Steve Gaudio vs Mark Herrin.

Tuesday - 1 p.m. — Winners of Bonjean-Scott match vs James Greenleaf; Willy Coultas vs Lyndal White; Winner of Gaudio-Herrin match vs Bill Frickie; Bob Durocher vs Sam Zeller.

Wednesday: Semifinals, winners of first-round matches at 6 p.m.

Friday: Finals at 6 p.m.

Pairings in Junior Women's Singles:

Monday - 3 p.m.—Jean Coultas vs Ann Lukeman; Peggy Davidsmeyer vs Ann Rigg; 1:30 p.m. — Joyce Murfin vs Vickie Slaid.

Wednesday: 1 p.m. — Winner of Coultas-Lukeman Match vs Sandy Price; Winner of Davidsmeyer - Rigg Match vs Linda Hanley; Winner of Murfin-Slaid Match vs Barb Doyle; Mariann Regan vs Barb Hess.

Thursday: Semifinals, winners of first-round matches at 6 p.m.

Friday: Finals at 6 p.m.

While entry into the Junior Division is now officially closed, Senior entrants (16 or over) still have until midnight this Wednesday to enter.

Entries in the Senior Division has picked up considerably the last few days, and it appears there will be quite a few more.

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — Sweden's Pluvier III, a 30-1 shot, came from out of the pack for a narrow victory over Italy's Steno in the seventh edition of the $100,000 International Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Saturday night.

Quico of France finished third as America's 2-5 favorite, Speedy Scot, finished out of the money after breaking stride early in the 14-mile race.

Speedy Scot, winner of the race last year, had taken the lead after Canada's Betsy Herbert led the field through the first one-quarter of a mile in 30.2-5 seconds.

Queronville LB, second of France's two entries, wound up fourth. New Zealand-bred and American-owned Our Own was sixth, Betsy Herbert seventh and Hans B. of England, last.

Pluvier III, earning $50,000, Goesta Valentin, paid $62.40, $16.60 and $8.60 after Gunnar Nordin sent him over the testing distance in 2:36 2-5. The time compared to the stakes record of 2:32 3-5 held by Speedy Scot and Su Mac Lad.

Steno, driven by Nello Bellei, paid $5 and $4.80. Quico paid $12.40 to show.

Orioles String Broken In Opener, Gain Split

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mis-cues by opposing rookie left fielders, Baltimore's Curt Bleary and Joe Hicks of Chicago, contributed to important runs Saturday as the White Sox and Orioles split a two-night doubleheader.

The White Sox won the opener
6-4, snapping a five-game Baltimore winning streak, but the Orioles rebounded for a 3-3 victory in the nightcap with all of their runs unearned.

Ron Hansen and Floyd Robinson socked two-run homers to keep Chicago even in the first game, with the tie-breaking run scoring in the seventh after Bleary lost Tom McCraw's lazy fly in the background and it fell for a double.

Hansen then singled off Mcliever Dick Hall, scoring Mc-

Terry's Secret Claims $125,200 Hollywood Race

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Terry's Secret, the favorite who bided his time in the early running, took charge when he pleased and won the $125,200 Hollywood Derby Saturday.

In a one-two-three finish of the top three favorites, Arksoni was second and Easy Lime third in the 25th running of this fixture for 3-year-olds.

Carpenter's Rule, the second betting choice, was withdrawn from the derby one minute before post time.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker after his fifth derby crown, reported Carpenter's Rule developed a gimpy leg during the parade to the post.

The time for the 1 1/4 mile feature was 2:00 4-5, which hardly threatened the track record of 1:58 3-5 set by the mighty Swaps in the derby in 1956 under 130 pounds.

The victory, third and biggest major stakes triumph of the meeting for Terry's Secret, was worth $60,200 for owner Lawrence S. Pollock's Poltek Stable of Dallas, Tex.

Terry's Secret paid $720, $3.80 and $2.80. Arksoni, ridden by Bill Harlack, paid $4.60 and $3.20 and Easy Lime, with Rudy Campas aboard, $3.20.

Reds' Rose Is In Full Bloom Now

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) —
Since Pete Rose is a mixture of Pepper Martin, Enos Slauch-ter and Leo Durocher, it's only logical that he would never do anything conventional.

So when the Cincinnati second baseman announced he was going to play winter ball everyone figured well, good! He can use some work on his hitting.

Naturally, Rose had it planned differently.

"I'm going down there," he said, "to work on my fielding."

It was like telling Mamie Van Doren she needed work on her
League fielding averages showed Rose tied with Ron Hunt of the New York Mets for the runner-up spot among second basemen (.979).

"I know it must have sounded strange," Rose said, "because I had only 12 errors all year. But I needed the work on the double-play pivot, on going to my right and on releasing the ball. My fielding definitely was holding me back from being a complete ballplayer."

Rose spent the winter in Venezuela where the manager of the Caracas team was Reggie Otero, one of the Cincinnati coaches.

"I worked on fielding for nearly three hours a day before the ball games," Rose said.
"Sometimes I even took infield practice with both teams. Reggie would just hit me ground balls all the time. He had to tell me to leave the field."

The results were evident after the National League players voted for the starting team in the All-Star game. Rose was elected to start at second base.

"Pete has improved 100 percent on double plays and going to his right," Cincinnati manager Dick Sisler said. "That one winter's work is going to make him an outstanding ballplayer sooner than expected."

Actually, the Reds were somewhat disappointed with the 5-11, 192-pound second baseman last season. The year before he had been the National League's Rookie of the Year, batting a solid .273 and exciting the fans with his head-first slides and his all-out hustle.

"Don't ask me why," Rose said, "but they thought I should do so more home runs, so I changed my batting stance. I was hitting about .215 in June and they started to say it affected my fielding. Next thing I knew I was on the bench."

Nothing could have been worse for Rose, a Cincinnati native who grew up around Crosley Field, taking instruction from former Reds' second baseman Johnny Temple.

"Have you ever seen Pete on the field?" asked his former roommate Art Shamsky, a Reds' outfielder. "That's just the way he is off the field. He couldn't sit down for a minute if his life depended on it."

There was nothing Pete could do, so he wanted, but not graciously. Finally Chico Ruiz, his replacement, floundered.

Rose went back in and batted .292 for the rest of the season, including .319 during the pressure days of the September pennant push.

Nobody is trying to change
Pete Rose now.

Reds Protect Lead With 9-8 Triumph

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tommy Harper and Deron Johnson each rapped two-run singles in a four-run fourth inning that propelled the National League leading Cincinnati Reds to a 9-8 victory over Milwaukee Saturday night.

The victory kept the Reds one-half game in front of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Joe Nuxhall needed eighth-inning relief help from Billy Mc-Cool, but picked up his third victory of the week in bringing his record to 5-2.

Nuxhall left after the Braves scored three of their five runs in the eighth, two on Hank Aaron's double. McCool immediately gave up a two-run homer to Mack Jones, but then retired the next two batters to end the rally.

The Reds trailed 3-2 going into the fourth, but scored four runs after loading the bases twice in the inning. Harper and Johnson stroked their singles off Bob Sadowski, who had relieved starter Wade Blasingame.

Innovations Anyone?

By MURRAY OLDERMAN
Sports Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK (NEA) — This isn't the right time of year to be talking to manager Bobby Bragan about doubleheaders.
Especially since a couple of twin bills back to back, against the lowly Mets and the highly Reds, resulted in four straight losses for the Milwaukee Braves and a skid that might not stop till they get to Atlanta.

"I'm sure that attendance figures will substantiate their value," said Bobby for openers, "but I hate those blanket-blank doubleheaders."

To baseball owners, two games on a Sunday afternoon are an American heritage and a right almost as inalienable as control of all concessions.

"But," amplified Bragan,
"the object in baseball is, No.
1, to win. If you don't win
'em both, it's a blankie-blank day. If you get a split, it leaves you with an empty feeling."

He didn't even say it's like kissing your sister.

Bobby Bragan

"And you don't get as much mileage out of your pitching," said Bobby, thoroughly warmed up. "For instance, you're the Dodgers and you work Sandy Koufax and Claude Osteen on Sunday. Now Thursday's the day they work again. But one of them is delayed until Friday."

Bobby also lamented the physical aspects of playing two games in a day. He said any of the "thirtyish" players — Eddie Matthews and Frank Bolling of his club, Elston Howard and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees, Willie Mays of the Giants — would be better off with just nine innings of duty.

He added, "I don't think Henry Aaron would have lost three balls in the outfield like he did against the Mets the other day. That's never happened before. You've got to play one of the games at twilight, whether it's a day doubleheader or starts before dark. And the light's just not as good."

Baseball people might lament there's just no way to get in the full complement of 162 games in a season without doubling up somewhere, and Bragan had an answer for them, too:

"Because of the nature of the game, seven days a week, it takes some of the premium off baseball. Pro football's attraction is that it comes just once a week and people build up to it. I'd say we'd be just as well off with 144 games."

A public relations man in New York named Ed Keyes is a nut on baseball and has devised a complete schedule in which teams would play on Friday nights, Saturdays and Sundays, with some Wednesday nights thrown in, and the season total would reach 125.

"I'd say it has merit," Bragan nodded. "As it is, I'd play the first 25 games of the regular season in the warm weather ports — Mexico City, San Juan, Houston, Miami. It's a lot easier to sell season tickets in April in Milwaukee and Philadelphia than when the snow is on the ground, and then come in to play in mid-May."

Redlegs Split Twinbill With Win In 2nd, 4-1

The Jacksonville Redlegs came back to notch a 4-1 triumph in the nightcap to earn a split with the Devil Rays of St. Louis, in a softball twinbill
Saturday evening at the State Hospital. St. Louis won the opener 5-1 in eight innings.
Jacksonville came up with a pair of runs in the opening frame of the finale. Bob Henbrough and Tom Standerfer opened with singles, with the runs scoring on a sacrifice fly by Gordon McFarland and an infield out by Bob Speaks.

Another came in the fourth on three bunts by Gail Waltrip, Sonny Hickox and Jerry Johnson. The final Redleg tally came in the fourth on a roundtripper by Speaks.

The only Redleg tally in the first game came in the fifth on a single by Waltrip and an error on the infield.

The Redlegs travel to Towanda this evening for a pair of games with Bloomington starting at 7:30. The team will leave at 4 p.m.

Olympian Schul Wins 5,000 Meter

PRAGUE (AP) — Olympic champion Bob Schul of Dayton, Ohio, opened up in the stretch with his big kick and won the 5-000-meter run in the Rosicky Memorial International Track and Field Meet Saturday.

The 27-year-old American overhauled West Germany's Werner Girkle in the straightaway and won in 13:54.6 in the huge Prague sports stadium.
Girkle was clocked in 13:55.6,
with New Zealand's Bill Baillie third in 13:56.6.

Other American winners included Ron Whitney of Los Angeles in the 400-meter hurdles, 51.0; John McGrath of Pasadena, Calif., shot put, 60 feet;
Theron Lewis of Philadelphia,
200-meter dash, 21.0; Baline Lindgren of Salt Lake City, 110-meter hurdles, 13.9, and Otis Burrell of Los Angeles, high jump, 6-9 1/4.

Bob Seagren of Los Angeles, West German's Wolfgang Nord-wig and Finland's Aulis Kairen-to cleared 16-1 in the Pole vault. The German won on fewest misses, with the other two tying for second.

All Johnson Needed Was Shot At Becoming A Star; Got It

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
NEW YORK — (NEA) — His name is Deron Johnson. . . not Mickey Mantle.

He tried being Mickey Mantle once. It failed. So did he, he most.

He had been a corner in sport since he could recognize the business end of a bat. He studied the game like a Batman comic book. He pitched, played first, second, third, the outfield. And he hit. Hard and often. Another Mickey Mantle, they said.

By the time he finished 12 years of schooling, every baseball team in the country wanted him. A half-dozen years later, hardly anybody did.

"I signed with the New York Yankees," he says today. "In the spring I was always the you'll get your big chance."

"What a laugh. I got up once during spring training and that time I walked. That was my big chance. Seventeen games later I was in the minors."

His name is Deron Johnson, and he plays third base for Cincinnati today . . . but three seasons ago, a has-been at 23, he wanted to quit. And go fishing.

"I figured if I couldn't make the Kansas City club," he says,
"well, I couldn't make anything in baseball. I was nobody going nowhere. I was at the bottom."
When K.C. sent me down I was close to chucking the whole thing. By then I had a wife and it was time to assess the future
— mine looked black.

"We talked it over, the wife and I. Her folks had a commercial fishing business in San Diego and if I quit, I could work for them. It's a tough life fishing, but at the time anything looked better than another season in the minors."

"But I decided on one more try. One more. Maybe, I'd get a chance . . ."

He did. He hit 33 home runs and 91 RBIs in the Pacific Coast League. Cincinnati was impressed. They said so in money. They hired him and told him to bat or bust. They weren't interested in another Mantle; they wanted a Johnson.

And he came back . . . as Johnson.

At 26, some feel he'll be an other super star . . . as Johnson.

He was slumped over a dressing room stool the other day, slipping a foot into some sanitary socks and the reporters were scribbling notes on his comments.

"Ever get tired of all these questions?" somebody asked.
"Hell, no," he replied. "I remember when you guys didn't even know my name."

His name is Deron Johnson
. . . not Mickey Mantle.

nesota's winning streak at nine games, clouting a grand slam home run in the eighth inning that gave the New York Yankees an 8-6 victory over the American League-leading Twins
Saturday night.

Minnesota won the opener of the day-night doubleheader 4-1 behind Zoilo Versalles' two-run homers.

The Yankees, behind 5-4, loaded the bases in the eighth inning of the second game against reliever Dick Stigman with singles by Roger Repoz, his fourth hit of the game, and Ray Barker plus a walk to Hector Lopez.

Johnny Klippstein relieved Stigman to face Boyer, who hit the second pitch 365 feet over the left field fence.

New York tagged starter Jim Grant for four runs and nine hits, including bases-empty homers by Repoz and Lopez, before he went out in the seventh.

The Twins beat Whitey Ford, now 10-8, in the opener. A three-run rally in the fifth did it as pitcher Jim Perry squeezed home one run and Versalles homered.

Rickey Upsets Dennis Ralston

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Stocky Cliff Rickey of Dallas, ranked No. 11 in U.S. tennis, pulled off a major upset Saturday when he defeated Dennis Ralston, the nation's top amateur, in the semifinals of the Western Open Tournament
5-7, 6-4, 8-6, 6-2.

Rickey will meet Marty Riesensen of Evanston, Ill., in Sunday's finals. Riessen, 10th ranked, defeated unseeded John Pickens of Tuscaloosa, Ala., 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

In women's singles semifinals
Nancy Rickey, elder sister of Cliff and the nation's No. 1 woman player, defeated 16-year-old Rosemary Casals of San Francisco 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Rickey will face Carole Caldwell Graebner, third ranked player from Beechwood, Ohio, in the finals. Mrs. Graebner stopped Julie Helman, defending champion from New York City, 6-2, 6-4.

Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., won the first game of the final set in convincing fashion but Rickey won four straight points to take the second game. Rickey won the third. Ralston scrambled to take the fourth, but Rickey smashed out four straight winning games to sweep the match.

Large Crowd Attends Free Street Dance; Open House Today

By JOHN B. MARTIN

Estimates of Saturday evening's crowd in downtown Jacksonville ranged as high as 15,000 persons, milling in the street, standing on the sidewalks, dancing whenever room permitted, and a majority who simply wanted to see what was happening.

Conservatively, the square was filled, a sight most merchants would give their left arm to see during business hours.

The public street dance was considered by all a big success. The Lettermen entertained the crowd in their greatest form and Earl Rabjohns led a 16-piece band for dancing during the intermission.

Many other local musicians also performed throughout the afternoon to bring the finest variety of entertainment Jacksonville has witnessed for more than ten years.

Open House Today

The general public is cordially invited to attend an open house of the manufacturing plant located at By-Pass 104 and Lafayette Road. Capitol will roll out the red carpet to show off their latest and most modern record pressing plant. A tour of the plant will bring the curtain down on one of the biggest weekends Jacksonville has witnessed for some time.

Five Members Of Litchfield Family Injured

A Litchfield family of five was treated and released at Passavant hospital Saturday following a two-car accident on West Morton Road in front of the Holiday Inn. The accident occurred at 9:20 a.m.

Treated for minor cuts were Mr. and Mrs. Frederick A. Sies and their three children, of Litchfield.

Investigating state troopers said the Sies car was westbound when it struck the rear of a car driven by Esta L. York, Route 4, Jacksonville. Mrs. York was not injured in the accident.

The York auto was also westbound, attempting a turn into the Holiday Inn.

Both autos were towed from the scene by wreckers.

Head-On Pike Crash Sends 3 To Hospital

PITTSFIELD—Three persons remain in Illinois Hospital with injuries suffered in a two-car collision at 4:30 Friday afternoon. The accident occurred on a gravel road northwest of Pittsfield at the top of a hill where the cars collided head-on.

The drivers of the cars, Cicero Beatty, 63, of New Salem, and Mrs. Letha B. Waters of Baylis, are listed in fair condition. In the car with Mrs. Waters were her two children, John, Jr., 8, who also remains at the hospital, and Lynn, 12, who was treated and released.

Charles Pierret, Roodhouse, Dies

Charles Pierret, 63, of Roodhouse passed away at 8:45 p.m. Friday at Holy Cross hospital.

Mr. Pierret, a well-known Roodhouse businessman, was born in Elwood, Ia. Aug. 29, 1901. His parents were Nicholas and Minnie Spith Pierret. He was married April 21, 1923 to the former Helen Kidd, who survives.

Also surviving are two daughters, Betty, wife of Robert Bandy of Carrollton and Charlene, wife of Norris Merriman of Bluffs; one half-sister, Mrs. Elsie Heath Baker and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Monday at the Wolfe Memorial Home. Reverend Edgar Whelan, chaplain at Holy Cross hospital, will officiate and burial will be in Fernwood cemetery.

THE VILLAGE PUMP

Every person who visits the plant will receive a free record.

Activities Saturday Saturday's activities were highlighted by a noon luncheon for Capitol officials and members of the Jacksonville Area Industrial Corporation, instrumental in getting Capitol to Jacksonville.

Five special awards were presented to Jacksonville people who were instrumental in securing the manufacturing plant for the city.

Those who received awards were: Elmer Lukeman, current president of the Jacksonville Area Industrial Corporation; Theodore C. Rammekamp, first president of the group; James C. Coults, one of the first members; Mayor Byron Holkenbrink; and Paul Pieper, the general contractor for the plant construction. The awards, a large wooden plaque with one of the first records produced in Jacksonville attached plus a suitable inscription, were prepared and presented by Capitol's President, Alan W. Livingston.

Dancing on the public square was never so good, provided you didn't step into a depression in the pavement and had enough room to move around.

The program at 9:30 p.m. Saturday was presented by the Chamber of Commerce with James Coults serving as emcee. Those who were recognized at the brief program were: Gerald Cassens, Chamber President; John Linebaugh, Mayor Holkenbrink, George R. Jones, Glenn E. Wallich, John Bellatti, Forrest Dyer and others.

Mayor Holkenbrink presented a plaque to Jones, vice president of Capitol, plus a key to the city for his time spent in Jacksonville prior to the site selection.

The celebration ends today. Production will resume officially Monday and the Capitol Records plant in Jacksonville should produce between 5 and 6 million platters annually when full capacity has been reached. Many more workers are scheduled for hiring in the months ahead. A total of some three to four hundred employees will be needed before full production is realized.

F. Lachschiele Of Pittsfield Dies Saturday

PITTSFIELD — Frankie Lachschiele, 56-year-old resident of Pittsfield, died at 2:30 a.m. Saturday at Barnes Hospital in St. Louis following a lingering illness.

New Building Added To Scott Fair Facilities

By Naomi Lawson (Winchester Correspondent) (Telephone 742-3490)

WINCHESTER — Spectators at the 1965 Scott County 4-H Show and Junior Fair will find another much needed facility has been added. Members of the Scott County Junior Fair board, 4-H members, leaders, parents and friends are joining forces to build a new food stand. The 20' by 40' pole type building, will contain a kitchen area approximately 14' by 20' and will be screened. The remainder of the building will house tables for dinner.

To Make Burgoon Plans Members of the American Legion Auxiliary will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Legion Hall.

Plans will be made to help serve the annual Legion Burgoon which will be held August 5.

To Host 4-H Clubs The Winchester Evening Unit of Morgan-Scott Homemakers Extension will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the First Baptist church.

A 4-H achievement program for the Teen Toppers and Winchester Workers clubs, sponsored by the unit, is planned. Mothers of the girls have been invited to attend.

Mrs. LaBelle Merriman of Jacksonville will give a flower arrangement demonstration and each member will bring one dozen cookies.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Russell Norman, Mrs. Walter Hubbert and Mrs. Harold Morris.

Judging Contest Results The Scott County 4-H judging team was given a "B" rating in the state 4-H contest held in Urbana.

The three high scoring individuals on the team were Larry Jones, Steven Andras and David Worrell. Others participating in the contest were Robert Reid, Larry Vortman and Ken Campbell.

In individual competition, Larry Jones was high scorer from Scott County. He scored 403 of a possible 500 points for an "A" rating. Steven Andras and David Worrell received "B" ratings.

Because of an interstate ruling eliminating all members who have received college training, Larry Jones will not be eligible to participate in the invitational judging contest during the Illinois State Fair.

Class Reunion A reunion of the Winchester High School class of 1925 will be held August 8, at the Slagle Ranch Inn.

Final arrangements were made this week when the group met at the home of Miss Julia Wisdom. The other members of the committee are Mrs. Allen Dolen, Miss Mildred French, and Miss Clarabelle Campbell.

Reservations may be made with Mrs. Allen Dolen until August 1.

At Promotion Meeting The Farm Bureau Committee from Scott County attended a "kick-off" meeting July 8 at the Gardens Cafe in Litchfield. Plans were made for a meeting to be held early this fall.

Representing Scott County were Mrs. Herman Wedor, Mrs. David Welch, Mrs. Harold Hurlock and Mr. and Mrs. William Chambers.

Persons Mrs. Urbana Sauer is a surgical patient at Holy Cross hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Finks and family of Shawnee Mission, Kansas, will arrive at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dana O'Donnell, Sunday afternoon for a visit.

Mrs. Robert John Johnson

Johnson And Andras

MANCHESTER — Fifty close friends and relatives were present at the home of the bride's parents when Miss Sara Elizabeth Andras and Robert John Johnson were united in marriage Friday, June 25.

The former Miss Andras is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Andras of Manchester. Mr. Johnson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Johnson of Roodhouse.

The afternoon ceremony was performed by the Reverend H. L. Janvrin, minister of the Roodhouse First Baptist church. Organ music was provided by Miss Barbara Brown of Winchester. The soloist was Norma Woods of Springfield, both classmates of the bride at Memorial Hospital School of Nursing in Springfield.

The bride was escorted by her father to an improvised altar banked with white and yellow shasta daisies. The Andras home was decorated with white satin bows, bells, and valley lily nosegays to carry out the wedding theme.

The maid of honor was Miss Lynn Bade from Champaign, roommate of the bride. The best man was William Steven Andras, brother of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with reembroidered lace applique complemented by an elbow length veil. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow rosebuds entwined with ivy.

The attendant, Miss Bade, selected a gown of yellow tulle overlaid with white dotted tulle. She wore a yellow pill box headdress to secure her veil. She carried yellow daisies.

The bride made her own wedding gown and also the dress worn by Miss Bade.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Andras chose a beige costume and a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses. The groom's mother was unable to attend because of illness.

A reception was held at the home immediately following the ceremony. Assisting were Miss Nancy Redenius, Springfield, roommate of the bride; Mrs. Gerald Margaron, Springfield; Mrs. William Dawson of Jacksonville; Mrs. Leland Bruce, Roodhouse; Mrs. Wayne Hudson, Manchester; and Mrs. Richard Johnson of Murrayville and Mrs. Edward Johnson of Manchester, sisters-in-law of the groom.

Special guests were grandmothers of the couple Mrs. J. C. Andras of Manchester and Mrs. Alden Johnson of Roodhouse. Both grandmothers wore corsages of white carnations. Guests were also present from Calumet City, Batavia, Liter-

Crises Intervene

Consider these words once uttered by Lord Granville, a 19th century British foreign secretary: "In all my years in the Foreign Office I do not recall any time when the world outlook was more peaceful." The year was 1870.

Within a few weeks the Franco-Prussian War broke out, ending in speedy, complete victory for Prussia. That success led to the founding of the German Empire, headed by Prussia and containing the other German states which had heretofore been independent. This was the empire which Western Europe and finally the United States had to fight in the First World War.

There is a lesson in this for our time. International crises have a habit of disturbing governments set on a large program of domestic reform. Presidents Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt, elected a generation apart to reconstruct our national economy, each found it necessary to drop important programs to concentrate on war.

Now President Johnson, fighting poverty and planning many other changes on the domestic scene, finds that he cannot concentrate on these. Instead he must devote a great percentage of his time to Vietnam, the Dominican Republic and other centers of unrest. He will be lucky if he can keep these under control, and still have time for a great program of strengthening the weak spots in our society.

Hopeful Signs In AMA

The power structure of the American Medical Association, make no mistake about it, is still adamantly opposed to a government-sponsored system of medicare for the aged. Its reasons for opposition have been often stated, and variously interpreted. The AMA's basic position remains unchanged.

But there is another side to the coin. Some AMA leaders appear to realize that the only sensible course open to the profession, in the face of almost certain medicare enactment, is to offer its help in working out the best ways of implementing the new law. A strong admonition to this effect was made by Dr. James Z. Appel, the Association's new president, in his inaugural address.

More than a little optimism is required, however, to make one think this conciliatory view will prevail. Even Appel, enlightened though his ideas may be in contrast to those of some other AMA chieftans, says he intends to continue trying to bring about change and ultimate rejection of the medicare program. Though it is good that the doctors' association has offered to confer with President Johnson, it will be coming to him with a chip on its shoulder. If this air of hostility to medicare is not softened by a genuine spirit of intending to make the best of the situation, little can be expected from such a conference.

There are hopeful signs. The AMA House of Delegates did reject a medicare boycott — meanwhile, be it noted, properly insisting that if any individual doctor thinks medicare will interfere with his practice of good medicine he must refuse to take part. The delegates did choose as president-elect a moderate rather than one of the diehards on the question. The AMA seems more aware now that it should have been leading, not resisting, the move toward a better medical payment program.

Dear Ann:

Flaunts "Freedom" Before Parents

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you published a letter from a woman who complained because her sister — in law brought a steak over to her house one Friday night and fixed it for herself while everyone else ate fish.

I grew up in a home that was strictly kosher. My sister Sadie married out of the faith, which almost broke my parents' hearts. Nonetheless, they have accepted Sadie's husband and are very pleasant to him.

Whenever Sadie has the folks to dinner she fixes fish for them but she always has a pork roast or baked ham for her own family. Last week I told her I thought she should stop it. She replied, "A grown woman is free to do as she pleases in her own home."

Is she right or wrong? — SADIE'S SISTER

Dear Sister: A grown woman is free to do as she pleases in her own home, but a grown woman should also be considerate of her parents. They know she married out of her faith. She does not need to remind them by hitting them over the head with a pork roast every time they have dinner at her home.

Consciously or unconsciously Sadie is reminding her parents that they no longer have control over her. It's time she knocked it off.

Dear Ann Landers: You said that even if the parents and grandparents were born in Poland the kids would be American because "nationality means the nation of your birth." Several people in our office think you're wrong.

If an American traveling in Africa has a baby is the baby African? Or if a mother cat has kittens in an oven are those kittens cookies? Let's hear from you again on this subject. — IN DOUBT

Dear In: The World Book Encyclopedia dictionary says, "belonging to a nation. A legal relationship between an individual and a nation, involving allegiance on the part of the individual and protection on the part of the state. There are a number of technicalities and every country sets up its own regulations covering its nationality."

Many countries, including the United States, grant nationality (and citizenship) to anyone born here — yes, even if the child was born while Mom was just passing through.

And now about that cat who was born in the oven — no, she is "not" a cookie, even if her mother was a tart.

Dear Ann Landers: Ten years ago my brother died. My husband had just gotten out of the service. He took over my brother's business which was then barely breaking even. My brother's widow was to be a 50 per cent partner and my husband was to own the other 50 per cent for running the business.

What's a Balanced Diet?

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Q—I am not exactly sure what dietitians mean when they talk about "a balanced diet." Just what does "balanced" mean?

A—The clearest and easiest explanation for the layman to understand is in "Eating for Good Health" by Fredrick J. Stare, M.D. "A balanced diet is simply a diet made up of a variety of foods that supply all the nutrients needed for good health in proper amounts and in proper relation to each other."

Dr. Stare, chairman of the department of nutrition at Harvard University, adds: "In the present state of our knowledge, there are 50 to 60 known nutrients, and there may be a few more yet to be discovered. For practical purposes, it is easy to balance the diet by selecting a combination of foods — cereals, fruits, vegetables, dairy products, fish, fats, sugars and meats. Diets made up of these foods — in variety — will provide all of the dietary essentials known and unknown."

Q—I know that liver is one of the best sources of iron in the diet. But I don't like liver, neither does my husband. Are there other foods besides liver?

A—Yes. Among other good sources of iron are meat and eggs, enriched or whole grain breads and cereals, dried peas and beans, leafy dark green vegetables and molasses. Dried fruits, particularly dried apricots, prunes, peaches and raisins, also supply iron.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Shriver: Maryland Is Magnet

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A fairly compelling logic gives weight to a flatly delivered forecast from a source here that Sargent Shriver will resign his post as Poverty Corps director in 60 or 90 days to run for governor of Maryland in 1966.

Shriver himself smiles away all such reports. But this time schedule seems to fit fairly well with a published account from other sources — to the effect that Shriver has promised to tell Democratic Sen. Joseph Tydings by Labor Day whether he will become a candidate.

One "listening post" type in the capital believes that if Shriver does yield his Poverty Corps post in September or a little later, he will stay on as Poverty Corps director a few months longer.

Under revised laws, Maryland's primary is far off in September, 1966, so Shriver still would have ample time to crank up an effective campaign.

The compulsions of logic enter the matter only if it is assumed he wants a political career. If he does, some sources say he must reckon with these factors:

He is 49 and cannot wait too much longer to begin. His political prospects in his earlier base, Illinois, have diminished with the 1964 re-election of Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner and the absence of signs that Democratic Sen. Paul Douglas might not make another race in 1966.

Maryland, on the other hand, is a most inviting prospect. One or two seasoned Washington heads think there is still another point which may underscore these others. At the Peace Corps, Shriver bears almost a charmed life. But at the Poverty Corps, he is beginning to acquire some scars. His new post might in time become a major political handicap.

What makes Maryland inviting right now is, first of all, the fact that no incumbent governor will be standing in the way. Gov. J. Millard Tawes is ineligible for a third term.

Furthermore, the young reform Democrats who last year backed Tydings seem as eager as he for a candidate of Shriver's particular make-up and credentials. As one Maryland observer says:

"The shiny-brights need a leader to make their revolution complete."

Evidently the Tydings backers are keeping up good steam. Young volunteers help out both at his Baltimore and his capital senatorial offices. They work with something akin to campaign spirit.

As husband of Eunice Kennedy, sister of the late John Kennedy, Shriver is an energetic symbol of the Kennedy phenomenon in politics. His Peace Corps stewardship has intensified his identity with the youthful element Kennedy stirred so vigorously in U.S. politics.

Many aspects of his Poverty Corps operation add to this identity with young people, though, as noted, there are also pitfalls there. The program is arousing the hornets in some of the big cities.

Providing he moves at the right time, it is felt that nearly everything in his background would serve Shriver well for a launch into politics.

This does not mean his path to the Democratic governorship nomination in Maryland would be paved with roses. The old liners who support Tawes (feuding heavily now with Tydings) are set to back Attorney General Thomas B. Finan, whose interest in the governor's chair is unhidden.

Numerous other interested parties have been put down tentatively as live bidders for 1966. Most probably will be shunted aside early. Rep. Carlton R. Sickles, the state's congressman-at-large, might figure prominently, though a feeling exists he would drop the notion quickly if Shriver announced a try for Annapolis.

Shriver has some still-fuzzy problems about residence in Maryland. But he was born in this state and one of his ancestors got an original grant from Lord Baltimore. Rivals won't top that.

Boyle Tells Of Primitive Charm Of Vietnamese Mountain Tribes

By HAL BOYLE

KHE SANH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Life is so unlikely among the Vietnamese mountain tribespeople that a child isn't even given a name until its first birthday.

Since many infants die before they are a year old, there doesn't seem much point in naming them until they have at least a 50-50 chance of growing up.

Mountain folk are always interesting to outsiders, who find their ways quaint, repulsive, but full of a primitive charm.

The hillbillies here are no exception. They are members of a Montagnard tribe called the Brous. Which rhymes with booze. They live in rugged hills amid rich green jungle drapery a few miles south of the demilitarized zone that theoretically divides this war-torn land.

The Brous are small, slender, dark-skinned people with an intensely black thatch of hair that gives them a wild look. To anybody but a fellow Brou, the life of the ordinary Brou would seem insufferable. He dwells at a bare survival level.

Some work on a French-owned coffee plantation; others till arid hillside patches.

Gastronomically speaking, the Brous' motto seems to be: "If it is smaller than you and can't get away, eat it. You never know where your next meal is coming from."

You see many small dogs around Brou hamlets, but rarely any big older dogs. As soon as they reach an appetizing size, most dogs go into the pot. Among other things the Brous put in the pot are lizards, cats, rats and monkeys.

The chief war weapon of the Brous formerly was the cross-bow. The wooden crossbow is a silent, deadly and effective tool for closeup jungle hunting. The tiny bamboo arrows are tipped with a poison made from tree gum. The poison affects the blood of a game animal but not the meat.

Brou children start courting at 12 or 13 and marry at 15 or 16. The moral standards of married Brous are a cut above civilized conduct. Wife swapping appears unheard of, and the price of adultery may be a poisoned arrow through the heart.

The Brous use any excuse to throw a party, whether it's a wedding, funeral, or just that the moon seems right. The men gather around a crock of homebrew made from rice or potatoes, and proceed to get crocked. The chief takes a gulp through a 6-foot-long straw stuck into the crock, then passes it to the honored guests.

"After you get a quick flash of his bridgework, you have to close your eyes when it's your turn to sip," said one American thus honored.

Religion In The News

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Roman Catholics and Protestants, for the first time in four centuries, today have a virtually common version of the New Testament.

And they soon will have a shared rendition of the entire Bible.

It's a cause for "great joy," says Richard Cardinal Cushing, Catholic archbishop of Boston, and "will do much to promote a greater bond of unity and more fraternal climate between Protestants and Catholics."

The new Catholic edition of the Protestant-produced Revised Standard Version of the New Testament will be issued officially in this country next Thursday. It already is out in Great Britain and Canada.

The event, says the Rev. Dr. Gerald E. Knoff, of the Christian Education Division of the National Council of Churches, shows "the remarkable unanimity and objectivity of New Testament scholarship, Protestant and Catholic alike."

A complete Catholic Bible, based on the R.S.V., is to be ready early next year. The project is a milestone in the developing of closer relationships between the churches.

Ever since the 16th century Protestant Reformation, Catholics and Protestants have used separate Bible translations, each group suspecting the other of tampering with the texts to support its own positions.

But the modern rise of Catholic Biblical scholarship, paralleling Protestant work in that field, has brought increasing mutuality — and often collaboration — in methods of research and results.

In a preface to the American edition of the Catholic R.S.V., Albert Cardinal Meyer, of Chicago, a keen advocate of the ecumenical movement for Christian unity, who died April 9, wrote:

"The present edition of the New Testament should help usher in a happier age when Christian men will no longer use the word of God as a weapon, but rather, like our forefathers before the time of the Reformation, will find God and Father of Our Lord Jesus Christ speaking to them within the covers of a single book."

Although it is not a completely common New Testament, it is almost. There are only slight differences between the Catholic and Protestant editions, most of them in single words or brief phrases.

Of a total of about 45 textual variations, 16 of them are simply the use of "brethren" in the Catholic edition in references to kinsmen of Jesus.

Another instance, in Luke 1:28, telling of the angelic message to Mary that she would bear God's son, she is addressed as "full of grace" in the Catholic edition, rather than as "O favored one" in the Protestant edition.

But the Catholic edition gives the alternative in a footnote, "or 'O favored one.'"

Most of the other variations are merely cases in which the Catholic edition includes in the text material which the Protestant edition puts in footnotes, such as the Luke 8 account of the adulterous woman befriended by Jesus.

There are "no substantial changes" in the text basically affecting doctrine, either for Protestants or Catholics, Dr. Knoff said. But the Catholic edition includes its own supplementary notes.

An introduction says progress in Biblical scholarship has led to matching textual renderings. The Revised Standard Version of the Bible was completed in 1952, after 15 years' work by an interdenominational Protestant committee headed by the noted Congregationalist scholar, the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle, of New Haven, Conn.

It drew on original Hebrew and Greek manuscripts and advances in linguistic, archeological and other knowledge in aiming for a clearer, more accurate version than Protestantism's old standby, the King James Version of 1611.

The R. S. V. has become widely used throughout Protestantism.

Catholic scholars, spurred by the 1943 encyclical "Divino Afflante Spiritu" approving scientific techniques of Biblical research, as used in Protestantism, and by the growing new relationships, proposed a Catholic edition of the R. S. V.

A committee of the Catholic Biblical Association of Great Britain checked over and prepared the text. With approval of the National Council of Christian Education Division, which holds the copyright, the New Testament was turned out. The publisher is Thomas Nelson & Sons, of New York and London.

In getting out the complete Bible, the main difference is that Catholics use some Old Testament books considered "Deuterocanonical" while Protestants regard them as the "Apocrypha," and not in the inspired category.

FINDING THE WAY

Don't Silence the Song

BY RALPH W. LOEW.D.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I wish they would leave things alone. I don't know what to believe any more." The voice of exasperation was raised in a conversation between two good friends who were commenting on news stories of statements of great confessions of faith. A Roman Catholic friend expressed the same sense of disturbance when he told of the changes that had come into the worship pattern of his church.

It's an understandable wish, for change is always an ordeal and always resisted. There are times when the changes seem as uninvited as a bird's song of which Robert Frost spoke:

I have wished a bird would fly away
And not sing by my house all day.
Have clapped my hands at him from the door
When it seemed as if I could bear no more.
The fault must partly have been in me.
The bird was not to blame for his key.
And, of course, there must be something wrong
In wanting to silence any song.

The problem in living amidst the change is trying to decide whether it's a song or just noise.

Jesus confronted this dilemma. He found it necessary to defend his words and his ministry by saying: "I have not come to destroy but to fulfill." Those who heard him were not certain, for this sounded like a new note and they resisted the sound of change.

There is a difference between tampering and exploring. Change just for the sake of change may introduce the novel but not necessarily the note of truth. True exploration can introduce a revolutionary new understanding that may be unsettling but necessary.

In our contemporary world this almost sounds like a cliché. We're so accustomed to change in so much of life. Yet these same men who protested some change in thinking about some patterns of worship or descriptions of their faith went back to their television sets to marvel at a man walking in space! They knew that they could not retreat from this world but they were not quite prepared to live in it.

Perhaps all of us have become so accustomed to some expressions of an idea that we are more attached to the expression than to the idea itself. Our need is not to run from change; it is to love truth itself enough to run from anything that would freeze the action.

When those bold forebears of ours talked of the spirit of God they spoke in terms of burning flames and mighty winds. We can't be alone, and it won't allow us to be alone. We're in God's company. There must be something wrong in wanting to silence that song.

The Mature Parent

Split-up Shatters Confidence

Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: Our daughter has been forced to leave her husband and with her 2-year-old boy come home to us. We never trusted him. An only son, he and his mother have really tortured Bess. This woman gave them their home so she could make long visits and get her knife into Bess. When the son comes to see the baby he is so cruel that Bess is prostrated afterward. Last night she told me that if it were not for the baby she wouldn't want to go on living.

ANSWER: Her husband's cruelty may not be entirely responsible for her depressions after his visits.

Apart from the hurt it inflicts, it is also an inescapable reminder of the poor judgment she showed in marrying him — and carries with it the chilling suggestion that all future judgments she makes will end in similar disaster.

This deep, often unreachable but shattering distrust of their judgment is the real problem of young people who have leaned on it to make an independent choice of a marriage partner only to find it a bad choice.

We can't wonder that your daughter is prostrated after her husband's visits. With every new cruel thing he says to her, her judgment is proved to have been more abysmally mistaken. To lose a husband is painful — but to be 23, the mother of a small child and to fear your judgment as unreliable is even more painful. Under such circumstances, it is difficult to want to go on living, not because you've lost your husband but because continued living promises increasing punishment as result of the bad decisions your unreliable judgment will doom you to make.

If your daughter could persuade your psychiatrist

I wish this because I do not think you and her father are equipped to help her. Though I'm sure she appreciates the sympathetic haven you've given her in her trouble, what she now needs is appreciation of herself.

You see, in this first important exercise of her judgment, your daughter's has been proved wrong and yours has been proved right.

Living with you as she does, she must struggle continually against the fear that your judgments are always going to be right as hers are always going wrong. All the kindness in the world can't make this fear anything but terrifying to her.

threatening her with disaster if she ever disagrees with you. Until that fear is dealt with, self-confidence will be a long time returning.

IN HOLLYWOOD

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jim Nabors was back at the Horn, where it all started.

The Sylacauga, Ala., boy was enjoying a rare night out — he doesn't get much time away from his duties as television's "Gomer Pyle." He and his party had a French dinner at the exclusive Petit Moulin Restaurant in Santa Monica.

After dinner Gomer, or rather Jim, invited the bunch to drop by the Horn, a far-out night club on Wilshire Boulevard. The place, which mixes grand opera with corny comedy, is somewhat hallowed for him.

"Can you imagine?" he commented between numbers by a comic-banjoist and an operatic duo. "It was just three years ago that I was up there on the stage the night Andy Griffith came in. He said to me afterward, 'You know something, boy — you're good.' I'm going to bring my manager around to see you."

"I thought that was the usual Hollywood routine, but sure enough, he brought his manager, Dick Link, in to see me the next week, and they signed me."

After warming up on Andy's show, Jim spread his wings as "Gomer Pyle" and he's been flying ever since. Although he didn't win any Emmy nominations this year — dialect humor is seldom rewarded — he is a hero at CBS. Appearing on the worst rating night of the week, Friday, it became the network's highest-rated show.

Still a bachelor, Jim lives in the same two-room house he had as an assistant cutter at NBC. "And I'm going to stay there," he insisted. "All I need is a place to lay my head at night."

His Alabama accent seems less pronounced off screen than it used to, but otherwise he appears little changed by his burst of fame. Only one thing bothers him: the inelasticity of time.

"Almost every hour of my time is taken up with something, except when I get an occasional night out like this one," he remarked. "What with doing the show and making a few appearances at fairs and things and doing a special with Andy and Don Knotts, I don't have any time to spare."

"People ask me to do things and they just can't believe that I don't have a day off until next December. I can hardly believe it myself."

Owner Of Stock Loose On Road May Be Liable

Animals on highways often cause injuries. Their owners may be held liable if they are found to be negligent, reports N. G. P. Krausz, University of Illinois professor of agricultural law. Krausz says that these general rules apply in Illinois: If a farmer has poor fences and his animals are often out, he may be liable for damages caused to anyone using the highway. Even though he maintains good fences, his animals may get through the fence and onto a highway. In this case he may still be liable for any damages

if he knew that the animals were out and made no reasonable effort to get them back in. A farmer may also be liable because of negligence if he drives his animals along, across or on a highway, particularly a paved highway. If he does, he is required to use the necessary care to keep them under control. At night or when visibility is poor, he must also warn motorists that animals are present. The law also protects the owner of the animals, Krausz says. In a situation where the farmer was not negligent and can show that the motorist was driving carelessly, driving too fast or driving a car in poor mechanical condition, the farmer may collect damages for his animal from the motorist.

School Dropout High In Rural Sections, Sociologist Finds

Not enough education and too many farmers on too little land are a combination that can cause high dropout rates in the nation's schools.

Three to six million young people in the U. S. will always be handicapped in the job market unless they are encouraged to return to school for further training, reports University of Illinois rural sociologist D. E. Lindstrom. Adequate education offers the best hope for a better income and greater opportunity.

In 1960 one of every four of the nation's 16- to 24-year-olds was in the labor market rather than in school. Dropout rates within this age group differed according to rural and urban residence, racial and ethnic background, marital status, school retardation and parents' education, income and occupations.

The children of farm laborers accounted for the highest percentage of dropouts, with 31 percent of the total. Rural dropout rates were generally higher than urban dropouts because three times as many rural 16- and 17-year-olds had fathers who had also dropped out of elementary school and who were earning less than $3,000 a year, Lindstrom says.

Percentages Vary
Among the foreign born, 40 percent dropped out of school compared with 25 percent of the native-born white young people. The dropout rate for children of European immigrants was 16 percent. The rate for non-white youth was 49 percent, but it was only 10 percent for those of Chinese and Japanese descent.

In 1960 about 45 percent of all dropouts between the ages of 16 and 19 years were married. Only 3 percent who were married were enrolled in school, and 29 percent of all graduates 16 to 19 years old were married. Students of fathers who were dropouts also tended to drop out. And the risk of dropping out was greater when the mother had less education than the father. Dropouts are often enrolled in grades several years behind their age group at the time they drop out of school.

Need Help of Adults

These facts indicate that young people need help in making decisions about their work, Lindstrom says. Yet the majority of them, even those planning to go to college, do not seek guidance from either their parents or their high school counselors.

Aid to youth in making decisions should also be the concern of the church, Lindstrom believes. Such choices involve moral and spiritual considerations as well as economic and social ones.

An important fact is that guidance in rural schools and at home is inadequate in helping young people make satisfactory work and life adjustments. Rural education facilities are also inadequate, especially for the majority who must work at jobs other than professional and managerial ones.

Changes Required
If young people who are not planning to go to college are to remain in school, high school and post-high school education should be comprehensive and flexible, Lindstrom says. It should provide for education and training that is adapted to the abilities, potentials and aspirations of those who are inadequately educated or poorly adjusted.

Post - high - school training should be open to both youth and adults who need more training to fit them for life and work in which they will be happy and productive.

Legislation Of Interest To Farmers Of Illinois

Although passage of the revenue reform amendment proposal made headlines, a number of other bills were approved by the Illinois General Assembly that are of particular importance to farm families.

Following is a rundown on some of the bills passed in which farmers have an interest. These bills have been sent to the governor for his signature or veto. A bill automatically becomes law if the governor fails to act within ten days.

Junior college master plan. Sets up state board to administer public junior colleges, mainly financed by state revenue and tuition fees.

Hog cholera indemnities. Provides payments to farmers for condemned swine when state's eradication program enters phase three, probably in 1966. Signed by governor.

Township records audit. Allows voters to order the board of town auditors to hire a certified accountant to audit the accounts of all town funds of which the supervisor is treasurer. Approved by governor.

Assessment districts. Allows counties of 100,000 to 500,000 to be divided into four assessment districts with different assessment years.

Sorghum alum. Has been added to the list of primary noxious weeds in the state. Bill signed by governor.

Truck inspections. Bill allows

BEGINS FRIDAY

There will be a weekend camp for 4-H boys and girls over 14 at the Western Illinois camp, beginning Friday afternoon and running through Sunday.

This camp is especially designed for those who are unable or do not care to spend an entire week at camp.

A special feature of the varied program will be reports by two delegates to the National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C.: Ada Mae Herter of Calhoun county and Larry Jones of Scott county.

CALL HONEY CROP 'ABOUT NORMAL'

JERSEYVILLE — Bee keepers of the Jersey county area report the honey production to date is about average. White clover honey may be expected in a greater amount than last season as there has been a considerable amount of the clover plants. Sweet clover will furnish flowers during the coming 60 days for bees to work on extensively.

truck owners, including farmers, outside of Cook County, an extra two months in which to have their trucks safely inspected. The months of March and September have been added to April and October as the times for the semiannual inspections. Signed by governor.

Exempt schools from costly surveys. School buildings ten years old and under are exempted from provisions of the health and safety code which requires surveys by architects or engineers to determine if the buildings conform with the code. Signed by governor. School boards have until 1971 to make alterations needed on buildings over 10 years old. Also code requirements have been considerably modified.

Livestock share leases. Bill provides that at least four months' notice must be given before termination of a livestock share lease or a lease of farmlands on any other rental basis.

Fertilizer spreader license. Farm wagon type fertilizer spreaders are now eligible for $5 licenses as permanently mounted equipment rather than trailer licenses.

School guarantee per pupil. Bill increases the state aid guarantee per pupil from $252 to $330.

Grain receipts. Bill is aimed at improving the value of grain warehouse receipts as collateral for loans. Signed by governor.

Detachment from park districts. Bill allows farmers to have farmland removed from new park districts if certain qualifications are met.

License custom spray operators. Bill requires custom spray operators to pass examinations to prove that they know the proper ways to apply pesticides, insecticides, or other dangerous chemicals. They also must be licensed.

Electric supplier act. Bills prohibit private power companies from building lines into areas now served by electric cooperatives and electric cooperatives from building lines into areas served by private firms. The state Commerce Commission decides territorial disputes in line with standards written into legislation and appeals may be taken to the court.

Fruit labeling. Bill provides for fruits and vegetables packaged outside Illinois and sold in Illinois to be graded within the state of their origin or labeled "ungraded."

Limit liability of landowners. who make recreational facilities available to the general public on a no-charge basis. Governor has signed bill.

Burning farm trash. Allows necessary farm trash burning and use of smudge pots to protect fruit and vegetables in Cook County or any county where ordinance prohibits burning in unincorporated areas.

Only 1 Federal Recreation Area Charge In State

Federal recreation agency officials last week listed areas where entrance charges will be required this year, and there is only one such area in Illinois—the Oak Point Recreation Area in the Shawnee National Forest.

Under the new Land and Water Conservation Fund Act, charges are made only where there is investment in recreation facilities and where collection of fees is feasible. Proceeds from the charges are channeled into the Land and Water Conservation Fund to provide additional State and Federal outdoor recreation opportunities. The Bureau of Outdoor Recreation of the Department of the Interior administers the Fund.

The entrance fees apply to many Federal areas for the first time. However, a number of National Parks and other areas have been charging entrance fees for some years.

A new $7 Federal Recreation Conservation sticker available this year will admit the holder and occupants of his car to all the Federal recreation areas which require automobile entrance fees. The sticker will remain valid through March 31, 1966.

Persons not wishing to purchase the $7 sticker may pay one-day entrance fees ranging in price from 25c to 50c per person, 16 years of age or older. At the Oak Point Recreation Area this will cost 50c. An individual seasonal ticket valid only at the Oak Point Recreation Area is also available at $1.25 per person 16 years of age or older.

Season tickets are available for a specific National Park or all charge areas in a single National Forest at a cost of 50c to $2 per person.

4-H Federation Plans Contests

The annual 4-H public speaking and demonstration contest will be held Wednesday evening at Farm Bureau hall when the Morgan County 4-H Federation holds its July meeting, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The winners will represent the county in the state contest to be held in conjunction with the Illinois state fair. The top two public speakers will receive trophies offered by the Jacksonville Kiwanis club.

The judges for the event will be Dr. Alfred J. Henderson of MacMurray College and Mrs. J. C. Riley, Franklin teacher.

EXTEND PORK QUEEN DEADLINE

Marvin Martin of Alexander announced Friday that the deadline for entering the Pork Queen contest has been extended to noon Wednesday. Interested girls may get the particulars and rules of the contest and enter their names by calling Mrs. Rowena Enke at the Extension office in the Farm Bureau building.

The queen will be selected Monday, July 19, at a regular dinner meeting of the Morgan County Pork Producers at Hamilton's cafe.

MACOUPIN BARROW WINS IN GREENE

CARROLLTON — The Hampshire barrow owned by Donald Rosentrefer of Gillespie won first place in a barrow show which was held Monday evening at the Greene county fairgrounds. There were 38 entries. Second place went to a crossbred barrow owned by Louis Harr of Carrollton. Third and Fifth went to John Beckett of Gillespie and fourth place was taken by a barrow owned by Emmett Baggett of Pittsfield.

The barrows were judged on foot Monday evening by the head hog buyer of the Hunter Packing co. They were then taken to St. Louis where they will be slaughtered by the company and the carcasses judged.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

CROP PROSPECTS ARE VARIED

Crop conditions this year are varied—as is normal. As usual, there are some poor spots. But the overall situation seems to be about average. Most of the country is in good shape. The principal exception now seems to be the northeast, where drought is serious and spreading. Earlier this season severe drought plagued the deep south and the northern and western great plains. But most of these areas have received good rains in recent weeks.

Wheat prospects are about the same as they were last year. For the nation as a whole, winter wheat yields are expected to be close to the 1964 average of 27 bushels. The Illinois average will probably equal the 27 bushels produced last year. Harvest is a little later than usual in some regions. Slow ripening and heavy rains have caused delays.

The corn crop is a little late in some places. Apparently more than the usual amount of replanting has been done. Some eastern parts of the corn belt have needed rain, but June drought does not ruin a corn crop. The southern states, which suffered from dry weather earlier, have had good rains. Soybeans are growing well in most areas, although excessive rains delayed planting in some areas. Some states report more trouble than usual from grass in soybean fields. Delays in planting probably contributed to the June rise in soybean prices. There could be a shortage of beans in August and September — before the new crop becomes available.

Pastures and ranges are mostly good to excellent except in the northeast. Ranges are reported to be excellent from the Rocky Mountains westward. The western great plains, which suffered from early drought, have had good rains in most areas. Pastures deteriorated in June in the eastern and northern parts of the corn belt. Drought became more serious in the northeast, especially along the Atlantic coast from Virginia to southern Maine.

On June 1 the national average condition of pastures and ranges was rated at 82 percent, which was 2 percentage points better than the year before and the same as the 1959-63 five-year average for that date. The average condition of the nation's pastures probably improved in June. Improvements in the deep south and the western plains probably more than offset deteriorations in the east.

Cattle on pastures and ranges are reportedly to be in good condition and doing well. An important exception is the eastern half of New Mexico and adjoining areas of Texas.

July and August are the critical months for corn and soybeans. These crops can produce big yields with less rain than was formerly believed necessary.

In the past, hot weather was thought to be necessary for good corn growth. We know now, however, that it can get too hot for corn — especially when soil moisture is short. Soybeans also may be hurt by excessive heat combined with a shortage of soil moisture.

Survey Shows Sheep Return Good Profits

A University of Illinois animal scientist says sheep can be a highly efficient source of income in Illinois. And he backs up his statement with some pretty convincing data from a 1964 survey of 85 Illinois ewe flocks.

"The study shows conclusively that well-managed flock operations can be highly profitable," explains animal scientist Gary Ricketts. "In each of four flock sizes studied, all of the high-income flocks had gross returns of more than $42 per ewe."

Ricketts says flocks in the study ranged in size from 10 to 184 ewes.

Wide Range
"Returns per ewe varied widely, ranging from a high of $48.05 to a low of $14.72," Ricketts explains. "Twenty-four flocks had gross returns of more than $35 per ewe. However, four flocks had gross returns of less than $20."

Ricketts says a close look at management practices on the farms gives a pretty good indication of the reasons for the wide range in income per ewe. "The proportion of ewes falling to lamb ranged from 22.7 percent in poorly managed flocks to none in well-managed flocks," he explains. "Percent of lamb crop born was 208 for the high flocks and only 82 for the low flocks."

"Deaths from birth to weaning ranged from 70.4 percent in poor flocks to none under good management."

Heavy, Light Fleeces
The survey also showed a significant difference in 12-month fleece weights for both ewes and rams. Ram fleeces ranged from 23 pounds in well-managed flocks down to only 6 pounds in the poor flocks.

What is required of sheep producers who want to find themselves in the high flock income range rather than the low?

"Good management" is Ricketts' reply to that question. "Profitable management involves getting a high lambing percentage, reducing lamb deaths, selling lambs at desirable marketing weights and prices and producing heavy fleeces.

"In short, the margin of profit is mainly a measure of good management in all phases of the sheep enterprise," Ricketts explains. "It can be the difference between a dead lamb and a live one, or a productive ewe and a profit-eating liability."

Farm Bureau Trapshoot July 29

The annual Illinois Farm Sports trapshoot will be held Thursday, July 29, at the Mathers Gun Club west of Springfield. More than 400 entrants from 50-60 counties are expected to compete.

Back in 1937, the first year for the event, only 63 shooters participated.

John Chambers, Farm Bureau organization director, hopes to have a strong team representing Morgan county this year. All entries should be made at the Farm Bureau office by Friday.

There will be 11 classes this year: individual lady, individual man, family class, junior (18 years or under), brothers class, husband and wife, old timer (65 and over), five man "A" team, five man "B" team, trap doubles, and two-man doubles.

Sixteen traps will be used during the one-day match.

ILLINOIS COTTON ACREAGE DOWN

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Let's Go Birding

Chickadee Is Always Here

By Emma Mae Leonhard

The question has been asked: Do chickadees stay here all summer? To make sure that all of our readers know which bird we are discussing, we shall identify it convincingly and briefly. It is a small bird, smaller than our very common sparrow; and it is the only small bird with the combination of black cap, black bib, and white cheeks.

It is this little bird is too active for some to find it readily—and it is very much an acrobat—just listen for its clear friendly chatter: "chick-a-dee-dee-dee" or "dee-dee-dee" it calls all year long. Sometimes it does a "dee-dee" with the first note higher than the second. The sweet little whistle we think of as a spring call and may not help one locate the chickadee at first.

Perhaps some may think that our Black-capped Chickadee is not with us during the summer for we rarely see it in our gardens then. In summer it is more a woodland species, as it has usually gone to the woods to build its nest in an old woodpecker hole or a rotten stump. Occasionally it remains in town if it finds a suitable metal pipe in which to hide its snug feather-bed nest.

Any time now we may see a flock of chickadees frolicking in trees, more often in the woods as yet. This flock will probably be made up of the adults and the family of from four to eight young ones. The chickadee families are large and active. When the young are ready to leave the nest, they already resemble their parents in looks and cheerful, friendly disposition.

Yes, our Black-capped Chickadee is a permanent resident. In April it builds its fluffy nest; in early summer it cheerfully and vivaciously teaches its family the ways of the bird world; in the fall it often moves into our gardens and parks and whistles more softly; in the winter it is as merry as it has been in April or May and braves the ruthless winds and snow with real courage and trust.

In the winter it is that the chickadee welcomes our bird feeding stations offering sunflower seeds and suet. Our Black-capped Chickadee is always with us, and we are thankful for this faithful friend.

CRYSTAL RENEE NICHOLS writes (with some help) "I was one year old July 2. My parents are Mr. and Mrs. William R. Nichols, Manchester, and my grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Camerer, Eldred; Mrs. Mabel Nichols, Roodhouse; and Mr. Ray Nichols, Springfield.

TERESA KAY McDADE, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McDade, 615 N. Fayette, had four candles to blow out on her birthday cake July 4. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Perry Six, Chapin; and Mr. and Mrs. Bill McDade, Valley City.

DAVID CHANEY was nine years old July 10. He has a brother Bruce and they are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Emel Chaney, 302 E. Dunlap, and the grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Chaney.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

All the Junior Page readers and your editor send greetings to these Birthday Marchers.

Join The Parade

Two weeks before your birthday send your name, address, age, birthdate and parents' names to the Jacksonville Junior Page Editor, Jacksonville Journal Courier, and you may march in the parade. Photos may also be sent and these can be called for as soon as they have appeared in the paper.

MAKE YOUR CHOICE

Vacation time is here at last. The school is out the winter past.

You'll get a tan from the summer sun, And here's my idea of summer fun.

Well first if you like swimming which is possible you do, Go out and buy a mask and fins and a great big rubber raft too!

Then second so you like to golf which some of you do I know, Go out and have a game or two you don't have to be a pro.

And third maybe you're a lazy bones who just sits around and naps, Or maybe you're a daring type who plays on mountain slopes, And fourth so you like to relax on days, just sit and take it easy.

Or maybe you have allergy and you're almost always sneezy, And fifth maybe you're a sports type who likes to ski or play ball.

Or maybe you are the dainty type who goes to parties and all, It really doesn't matter who you are or what you do—just have fun all the summer through.

New World Champion

By Walter B. Hendrickson, Jr.

The Air Force's mighty Titan strapped to the side of the core III-C is the new champion vehicle give the Titan III-C its weight lifter of the world, distinctive shape. With them among rockets. It can put 25,000 strapped to the sides of the Core Vehicle the Titan III-C stands above the earth. This is nearly 150 feet tall and is 30 feet wide.

Stacked-Up Sections These solid fueled rockets are made up of sections which can be stacked one on top of the other to make a rocket as big and powerful as needed. In the Titan III-C these rockets are about 100 feet long—big enough to deliver 2.5 million pounds of thrust.

The Department of Defense decided to make the Titan III part of its National Launch Vehicle Program in August, 1962. At that time the missile was to boost the Dyna-Soar manned glider into orbit. When the Titan III-C program was canceled the Titan III-C was assigned to life the MOL which replaced the Dyna-Soar.

The Titan III is the first Air Force rocket built from the start as a space booster. The other space boosters used by the Air Force—the Thor-Agena—were made by part of the Titan III-C by itself placing an Agena second stage in 10 feet wide and about 120 feet high.

Other rockets have been built for space work alone by NASA. (sectioned) 10-foot-wide solid One of these, the Scout, is also fueled boosters. These motors used by the Air Force.

"To The Rescue"

By John Rankin

Sammy gets a harmonica searched for a way to rescue his parents from their perilous plight. Then somehow — perhaps it was fate — he remembered the harmonica resting in his pocket and he began blowing on it with all his might. As the first blast from the instrument pierced his ears the big cat ceased his stalking attack, his sleek body went limp as his jungle instincts tried to fathom the strange sounds—and then he bolted from the scene with all the speed at his command.

Dad Explains Mystery In the light of the campfire that night Dad knocked the ashes from his pipe and turned to face Sammy. "You were a pretty big man out there today, son," he said thoughtfully. "Guess it's about time I fill you in on a thing or two about your dad. Something that happened before you were born."

Sammy looked up eagerly. "Yeah, sure, Dad, must be something about a harmonica, maybe. Why it makes you so jumpy and everything." "Yes, son," Dad nodded. "It happened overseas during the war. One night a fellow in our barracks was playing the harmonica when the enemy's big bombers zoomed in on us. When it was over our losses were heavy and for months I was in a hospital not knowing my name even and..."

"I understand, Dad," Sammy put in. "Sorry about what happened today. Me blasting away on the harp and everything." Dad paused to light his pipe with a live coal from the open fire and then turned to jostle Sammy playfully. "Get that harmonica out of your pocket and see what you can do with it, old-timer," he grinned. "You made some pretty wonderful music on it today."

Sammy Acts Fast But in those fleeting seconds Sammy's agile mind raced with the speed of lightning as he

Little Robin, in the grass, Watching people, as they pass, You're quite safe, it would appear. They won't hurt you, little Dear: Still, there's one thing, you must do. Be alert... and careful too: You have "enemies"... at that. Watch out for... A PUSSY CAT!

MY PETS

I have a cat. His name is Zat. He'll eat my hat, Lying on his mat. What'd you think of that? I have a dog. His name is Mog. I found him in the fog. I playing with an odd egg! I have a lizard. Who'll eat a gizzard. Doesn't care for Mr. Wizard! I also have a rabbit. Who just can't break a habit. Of reading John Cabot. He'll get the book if he can grab it! Do you have a pet? You do I'll bet! Are you all set. To watch a New York Met? Now you see. My pets and me. It's 4:00, time for tea. But first we must have a key! Gayle Gross 6th Grade Washington School

BEAUTY

SEASIDE FUN

Summer is fun for you and me. Down by the wonderful sparkling sea. The children are playing everywhere. Splashing and building without a care. Down went the castle down went the men. Now out to the ocean with a happy grin. Some like the mountains way up so high. If you went any higher you'd touch the sky. Around and around the curves we go. To the place where only I know. Where my secrets are hidden in my little fine cave. That my rich old Aunt Martha gave. Summer is going, going, fast. The sea and the mountains have now gone past. Summer is gone, we're going home. To my little house with the pigeon white dome. By Susan Suter Grade 6 Washington School Mrs. Stewart's room

SUMMER'S HERE

Summer is here. The birds fly high. If I had wings So would I. And no more Is Mother keen. On childish bedtimes Eight fifteen. Summer is here I swim all day No work at all Just play, play, play! By Nancy Hamm Grade 6 Washington School Mrs. Stewart, teacher

TIME OF JOY

This is a time of joy. For every girl and boy. Summer time seems very short. Because we do so many a sport. There's swimming, boating, and fishing. And for some even wishing. You can work hard on mosaics. Or go skiing at the lakes. You can raise an animal for the county fair. Do anything if you don't care. You can have so much fun! Do everything under the sun! Because school again will start. And vacation time will then part. By Evelyn Gross 6th Grade Mrs. Stewart, teacher Washington School

SPORTS ARE FUN

There are many sports I like to do Baseball and soccer and tennis too. Golfing and swimming and touch football I like each one. I like them all. Some people think sports aren't for girls. Say they should sit at home, not muss their curls. But I'll go out and skin my knee For playing with dolls is not for me. By Nancy Hamm 6th Grade Washington School Mrs. Stewart's room

ADVENTURE TIME

When school is out You can go on an Adventure, or solve A mystery. Or maybe you Would like to go on A fishing trip, or Swimming, or Camping out. When school is out You can go to bed As late or as early, As you want. You may want, To visit your Grandma, and grandpa. Or maybe stay Over night at a Friend's house. When school is out. By Lottie Baldwin Grade 6, Washington Mrs. Stewart's room

LOTS OF FUN

Vacationtime now is here, I like to swim during this time of year. Tennis is also fun for me. But swimming I much prefer. you see. And when I go swimming in my Grandfather's lake, I feel sometime like I could bake. Maybe if I go to Paris, There I might see Roger Maris. At camp I expect to have fun, Which is all rolled into one. At night when I go to bed, I'll dream of people which are black and red. My friends and I like to go explore. Deep down in secret places evermore. Vacationtime is lots of fun, To laugh and play and sing and run. By Jean Bradish 6th Grade Washington School

MODESTO — Mr. and Mrs. William T. Greer announce the engagement of their daughter, Lana, to Terry Ambrose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Ambrose of Scottville. No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Greer is a 1964 graduate of Northwestern High School at Palmyra. She is employed at Anderson, Clayton and Company in Jacksonville. Mr. Ambrose, a 1963 graduate of Northwestern High School, is a student at Bailey Technical School in St. Louis, Mo.

There will probably be some meat leftover if you have served a veal shoulder roast. To use it, you may heat slices in gravy or dice the meat and add it to diced celery and apple for a hearty salad. If you prepare the salad, add French dressing (instead of mayonnaise) and serve on crisp greens.

LIBERTY CLUB PLANS PICNIC

The Liberty Woman's Club met July 7th at the home of Mrs. Robert Killam and plans were made for the annual picnic to be held July 27th at Nichols Park. A potluck supper will be served and all members and their families and friends are welcome to attend.

Mrs. Pearl Killam, president, conducted the meeting. Mrs. Harry Killam led the pledge. Devotions were given by Mrs. Wilbur Williams and Mrs. Curtis Morris, secretary, read the minutes. Financial report was given by Mrs. Ruth James, treasurer.

Mrs. Robert Killam was winner of a contest conducted by Mrs. Harry Killam.

Guests were Miss Zoe Marshall, Mrs. Nettie Detmer and Mrs. Irene Hildreth.

Mrs. Lawrence Alfred Bossarte

Bossarte And Furlong

Miss Pamela Lynn Furlong and Lawrence Alfred Bossarte were united in marriage in an evening ceremony performed Friday, July second, at the Central Christian church by the Reverend William Sturgess.

White glads and daisies with palms were used at the candle-light altar. Miss Mahala McGeehee was at the organ for pre-nuptial selections. Tapers were lighted by Debbie and Mark Furlong.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Furlong, 762 South West street and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pryor Bossarte, 923 Edgehill Road.

Mrs. Clayton Stephenson of this city and Miss Sharon Furlong, served as their sister's maid of honor and bridesmaid. Mr. Stephenson attended the groom as best man and William West was groomsmen. Guests were seated by Shawn Furlong, nephew of the bride and Joseph Stephenson of Flossmoor, Illinois.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length wedding gown of white Chantilly lace with pearl and sequin on the gown's bodice which featured a Queen Anne color and long tapering sleeves. The bride's cape train of scalloped lace was detachable. She wore a crown of pearls and crystal to hold her blusher veil of illusion and carried carnations and a white orchid with her white Bible.

The bride's attendants wore aqua crepe, also floor length, with lace bodices.

Upon return to the city the couple will reside at 1018 Grove street.

Mrs. Bossarte graduated this June from Jacksonville High School and is employed at Caldwell-Roads Company. The groom, a 1963 graduate of Routh High School attended the Universal Trade School in Omaha, Nebraska and is employed by the Grinnell Sprinkler System.

Among the many out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Furlong, Florissant, Mo. Larry Lubertozzi, Chicago and Mrs. Eldon Furlong family, Flossmoor, Ill., and Mrs. Jack Furlong Sterling.

Drummer 40 Years

Testimonial To Honor "Boots"

Terrence (Boots) Brennan

Fellow musicians and friends will gather at the Blackhawk Restaurant Monday night to pay tribute to their colleague, Terrence (Boots) Brennan, who this year observes forty years as a drummer and orchestra leader.

Brennan's colorful career throughout Central Illinois will provide material for an interesting program to follow a 7 p.m. banquet. Local and area musicians will unite after the program for a jam session at the restaurant. The restaurant's Village Pump is being reserved from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. for those with reservations for the Boots Brennan festivities Monday evening.

Friends of the well known musician are sending letters and cards of congratulations to the restaurant to accompany other forms of tribute to be accorded Brennan. A number of surprises are also in store for the honoree.

Uruguay Pawns Gold To Pay For Imports

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — This little cattle and wool country, just one step ahead of the bill collector, is pawning the family gold to get a breathing spell.

Uruguay will send about $80 million in gold bars abroad, loans from private banks totaling $110 million.

It's a big blow to the national pride. For 30 years Uruguay has prided itself on being, in certain measure, the South American banker because it had such a stable economy.

Now that's history. Uruguayan social welfare programs, among the most elaborate in the world, are not the only items contributing to the malaise along the River Plate, but they are the biggest.

An Uruguayan worker 50 years old with 30 years of work behind him can retire on full pay. An employee of a bank who has 10 years employment with that institution isn't out of a job if the bank goes broke. He retires on full pay for the rest of his life.

Behind the scenes, many economists are fairly optimistic. But the country has $171 million in assets and $330-350 million in debts. It needs help fast.

At first blush things look worse than they are. The 1964 national budget was for $109 million of which half represented a deficit.

Fortunately, spending doesn't reach the imaginative peaks of the budget makers, who load the budget with pet projects of various officials. Spending runs about 10 per cent behind income.

Most of the loans Uruguayans leaders hope to get from the banks will go to pay for past and future imports, with some for servicing the national debt.

The only way Uruguay can come up with the cash is by selling wool and meat.

Meat, the other major Uruguayan export, is in short domestic supply just from the attempt to export as much as possible.

Alternate chunks of boneless lamb (from shoulder or leg) on skewers with square of bacon and green pepper and broil.

Supermarkets of the U.S. sold more than two billion broiler-fryer chickens during 1964.

Do Rioting Teen-agers Fear World Of Adults?

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — Teen-agers who riot are in terror of the adult world which they feel inadequate to enter, says Dr. Rhoda Lorand, a psychotherapist who specializes in treating youngsters.

Boys who whooped it up at several summer resorts last weekend "were expressing lack of confidence in their own masculinity as well as hostility toward their parents and a need to discharge sexual excitement in this disturbed way," Dr. Lorand said in an interview.

The girls who went along with the rioting have the same hostile feelings, she said.

"The adult world seems dangerous to all these youngsters because they feel so inadequate to cope with its demands for achievement and self-control and sexual responsibility. In a large group they give each other support for acting out their childish fears.

"Approval of the group serves the same function that approval of the parents does for young children. If these youngsters had not felt hopelessly unable to please their parents, or too full of hostility to want to, they could have identified with them — assuming the parents are law-abiding and self-controlled individuals — instead of feeling in continuous revolt against them."

Many people, says Dr. Lorand, explain the riots as nothing but lack of discipline. "But some young people who act the worst have been subjected to extremely harsh discipline — too harsh," she said.

100 YEARS AGO

The Soldiers' Monument In Central Park

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal

A MONUMENT TO THE FALLEN BRAVE — We invite attention to a communication in today's JOURNAL urging our citizens to build a monument to the memory of all the soldiers from Morgan Co. who lost their lives in the war. Sooner or later this plea will be realized, but we prefer that this work of affection and gratitude be done by the people of today, and that it must not be handed over to another generation. Who will move first in this great enterprise?

NOTICE — The late members of Company D, 101st Ill. Vols., who were mustered out with the Company, are requested to call at my wagon shop near Hammond's foundry, or send me their Post Office address, as soon as possible. Philip Lee, Late Capt., Co. D, 101st I. V. Capt. Lee, throughout a long lifetime, rejoiced in being a veteran and his wagon shop on South Main street was a hang-out for "old soldiers" who happened to be unemployed at the moment. He was one of the organizers of the Jacksonville unit of the Grand Army of the Republic and served as commander three terms.

Capt. Lee was always good for a handout and a word of cheer for any former wearer of the blue who happened to be down in luck. A fine tenor singer, he was choir leader and soloist at Grace Methodist church for many years — at least 30 years.

DUST! DUST! DUST! — We believe that the merchants, professional and business men of Jacksonville have as much enterprise as usually belongs to cities of its population. We are therefore surprised that no systematic effort has been made to water the streets of our city during the dusty season. What say our merchants? Grocery keepers are not expected to speak first, as a little dust in their sugar may not be so serious an objection as to have fine silks, laces and fine goods literally soiled with it.

A GUST — On Saturday last, about four o'clock in the afternoon, there came up a gust of wind from the north that amounted to nearly a storm, literally driving everybody under shelter and into houses. The atmosphere was dark with dust and for a time the roofs of houses, sheds and awnings were threatened by being carried away. The weather for several days has been excessively hot, and vegetation has been suffering for rain, which is much needed.

MONEY ORDER POST OFFICE — Jacksonville has been designated by the proper authorities, and our post office constituted, a money order office. Persons desiring to remit small sums of money to distant points can purchase orders from our post master, and thus ensure safety and despatch.

A SITUATION WANTED — A young man, intelligent, active and able-bodied, desires a situation for a few months. He is a good scholar, a fine mathematician, speaks the German, Spanish and English languages, and desires employment where he can exercise brain and muscle. Apply to this office. (Adv.)

RECORD OF THE DISCHARGES OF SOLDIERS — It is perhaps not generally known to soldiers who have been in the service from Morgan County, that provision has been made for recording their discharges, so that in case the discharge should be lost the record may be referred to as evidence in obtaining pensions, back pay, etc.

WILL RECEIPT — Mr. Frank Bristow has consented to act as our agent in receiving and receipting for subscriptions to the SENTINEL in Morgan County. He will, during the summer, visit every precinct in the county, and we trust those of our Democratic friends who are not taking the paper will manifest their interest in sustaining a county Democratic paper, by subscribing and giving it the material aid of a small moiety of their greenbacks.

We learn that our city authorities have it in contemplation to pave North Main street, from the square to the R. R. depot. Go on with the good work — it is needed.

Mrs. Douglas, widow of the late senator, made two personal attempts to obtain from President Johnson a reprieve for Mrs. Surratt, but in each case was denied.

The Hippo-Olympiad, the most complete traveling exhibition in America, will be in Jacksonville Saturday, July 29. The procession will be led by the DOLPHIN CHARIOT, drawn by 40 horses controlled by Maj. Henry Derth, amid the martial strains of the incomparable SILVER CORNET band led by Prof. Herman Ludwig. Admission 50¢, children 25¢. (Adv.)

Wouldn't this have been something to see?

The Dolphin Chariot was 10 feet wide, 10 feet high, 35 feet long and weighed 10 tons. On parade it carried a 40 piece band.

Think of 40 horses, four abreast and ten teams long! There have been only three men who could handle 40 horses at a time: Derth, Jake Posey and Jim Thomas.

Of course everybody has heard about the 40 mule team that hauled borax out of the desert. But this was altogether different. Mules are smarter and have more common sense than a horse; some fine horses are more temperamental than a prima donna. Besides these mules were worked hard, and had no inclination for further exertion. And if they did bolt, where could they go? One part of the desert was just as good a road as another for part.

Posey and Thomas worked for years with Jim Bailey and stayed with him after he joined up with Barnum to create "The Greatest Show On Earth." They spent five years on the great tour of Europe, returning with renown and buckets of money.

Thomas had 40 dappled grays, ranging from four to ten years old. Posey's lead team was four white horses, perfectly matched; the next gray, then running through the rest of the colors—bay, sorrel, roan, chocolate, etc.—with the wheel team coal black.

Many people who saw Posey in action believed he truly was a direct descendant of our first president. Who's going to argue about it? After all, George Washington was the "Father of Our Country," wasn't he? Me, I'd rather see a 40 horse hitch than take a trip to the moon—or any place else.

—Cecil Tendick

At a circus a women jumps clean through hoops. In society they jump into them and stick there.

Proposes Soldiers' Monument

A hundred years ago this week Cyrus Epler, Jacksonville attorney and Democratic leader, wrote a letter to both newspapers:

Mr. Editor — The object of this communication is to suggest to the people of this county the propriety of enrolling in a manner as neat and durable as possible, the names of the heroic dead citizen soldiers who volunteered or were drafted in the civil war just ended, embracing a particular account of their respective ages, places of birth, places of residence, when they entered the army, their respective companies and regiments, and the particulars of the time, place and manner of their death.

The enrollment might also embrace the names, the wounds and other particulars of all who went from the county, and should be filed with the records of the county for future reference. And it is hoped that the time is not far distant when the old court house will be removed from our public square, which will be ornamented into a public park, crowned with a monument in sacred memory of our patriots.

Respectfully your,
C. Epler

This communication undoubtedly startled some people, because the Republicans — and particularly Editor G. Price Smith of the JOURNAL — charged Epler was a Copperhead of the most venomous type. At this date it appears he was far from being a Southern sympathizer, but rather he was much concerned with the military takeover of the law.

Twenty-five years later, however, when he was circuit judge, he ruffled the feathers of the "old soldiers" by holding court on Decoration Day, adjourning at noon.

Nothing at all happened to Epler's suggestion, although many counties erected suitable memorials soon after the close of the war. Some of these were very expensive, some very ugly and some both costly and ugly. Many were crudely carved from the cheapest kind of limestone and some of them have fallen down, or have been hauled down as a matter of public safety.

Suggestion Revived — At the March 16, 1916, meeting of Matt Starr Post No. 378, Grand Army of the Republic, Comrade W. H. Jordan suggested the erection of the monument and moved that a committee be appointed to look into the matter.

Jordan was a veteran of the Jacksonville cavalry unit raised early in 1861 by Capt. Barbour Lewis, a local attorney. The company was unable to get into Illinois service so it became Co. G, 1st Missouri Cavalry. In the battle of Sugar Creek, Ark., the following spring Jordan's horse stumbled and fell; Jordan sustained a hernia and received a medical discharge in June 1862.

His motion carried and the following men were named to the G.A.R. committee: C. Riggs Taylor, C. E. McDougall, J. F. Self and J. M. Swales. The Morgan County Monument Association was formed by the addition of Dr. Charles H. Rammelkamp, president of Illinois College, W. H. Jordan, T. B. Orear, Hassell Hopper, J. E. Wright, M. T. Layman and S. W. Nichols, editor of the JOURNAL.

Major C. E. McDougall was elected chairman of the combined committee and upon his death was succeeded by Private Sammy Nichols. Capt. J. M. Swales was chosen secretary, but died soon. He was succeeded by Sgt. Hassell Hopper, and upon his death the post was taken over by Dr. Rammelkamp. The latter two men did a wonderful job of collecting and certifying the names of the soldiers who left Morgan county for the war.

The county board of commissioners promptly gave its consent to have the monument erected in Central Park and the people overwhelmingly approved a one-year tax levy designed to raise about $30,000.

The committee then announced it was in the market for a first class monument. Fifteen architects and artists submitted one-inch-to-the-foot models, but the committee unanimously selected the design of Leonard Crunelle of Chicago, working in conjunction with Morrison & Walker, monument contractors, also of Chicago.

Crunelle was born in France, the son of a coal miner. The family migrated to Indiana and then to Decatur, and Crunelle worked in a coal mine from the time he was 10 years old until he was 20. A sculptor visiting Decatur saw some of his work and got him a job helping build the much-decorated structures at the Columbian World's Fair in Chicago.

For a time Crunelle worked as an assistant to the famed Lorado Taft, but later opened a studio of his own.

A Careful Worker — Much to the exasperation of the committee, and to the cost of the contractors, Crunelle didn't get in any hurry. He refused to accept the first blocks of granite shipped up from a Georgia quarry, and after arguing around for about a year the quarry sent him what he wanted.

Simeon Fernandes & Son built the foundation and Jacob and Ben Cohen had the derricks to handle the heavy pieces more than a year before the two massive figures and the bronze statue of Columbia arrived October 19, 1920.

The monument was formally dedicated Nov. 8. Rain called off the proposed parade of veterans of the Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War I, led by DeSilva's drum corps, and the ceremonies were held in Centenary Methodist church with Sammy Nichols presiding. Dr. C. H. Rammelkamp made a statement in behalf of the Monument association and Horace H. Bancroft, always a handy man on a platform, spoke for the G.A.R. at the request of Commander Wigginst. Judge H. P. Samuell made the response for the public.

Yates Principal Speaker — The orator of the day was ex-Governor and Congressman Richard Yates, who gave a long and flowery speech extolling the virtues of the "old soldiers" and their contributions to the nation.

The people were enthusiastic about the monument and on Nov. 19 plans were announced to build a giant coliseum in honor of the veterans of World War I. It was to seat 5,000 and be ready for the Jacksonville centennial in 1925. This project never got off the ground, for in November, 1920, the people would not have approved a tax raise of any kind, not even a bond issue for 10c.

Different Times — In 1917 business was good and some of the farmers were getting downright rich, with the war in Europe boosting the price of hogs, horses and grain right through the skylight. But it was a different story in 1920, which saw corn drop from $2 a bushel to 80c, hogs from $20 to $12, and you couldn't give away a horse.

The cost of the splendid monument was put at "around $25,000." At that price the county certainly got a bargain. The bronze name plates at today's figures would cost nearly that much. Franklin has gotten some bids on bronze plates for a village memorial and the best figure the committee has gotten so far is 35c A LETTER.

Franklin should have built its memorial in 1920.

Owing to the liberation of prisoners and the discharge of the army, the number of applications for pensions in the month of June was greater than ever before. Since the war began 84,000 pensions have been issued, 34,000 to invalid settlers and 50,000 to widows, mothers and minor children. The payments to pensioners the past year have amounted to $9,000,000, and when all pensions arising from the war shall have been granted, the annual expenditure will be about $13,000,000.

GREENE NATIVE HONORED BY A.F.

WHITE HALL — John T. McConathy, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. McConathy of White Hall has received the Meritorious Civilian Service award from the Air Force.

The award is the highest given by a major air force command. The presentation was made by Maj. Gen. W. T. Hudnell, Commander of the San Antonio Air Material Area. McConathy is civilian personnel officer at Kelly Air Force Base, Texas. The award was given for marked improvements in the SAAMA civilian personnel program since 1961 when McConathy became the personnel officer. Gen. Hudnell stated that the improvement resulted largely from his careful planning, special efforts, and leadership.

Autumn Fashions May Be Pretty And Beastly

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Womanly beauty this fall may be pretty and beastly.

That was one of the secrets shared Wednesday with fashion writers here for a four-day program of fall collection previews called the American Designer Series.

Earlier, designer Jacques Tiffau had set a primitive mood with jungle music and masked mannequins who slinked with cat-like grace in leather and velvet smocks.

Then came the true confessions by Warner's about what really goes on in the underworld of fashion.

Feline misses undulated onto the red carpet in body cinchers, bikini-like underpinnings and tarzan-type, one-shoulder togas — all the cat's meow in tiger stripes.

Their sinuous sisters wore cobra skins, fake patterns of course, on much the same type of intimate apparel.

More ladies, shy and demure, and at first fully clothed in conservative black striped to reveal their true colors — wicked red, red lingerie.

Other very personal items introduced at the show included:

—Side-button coat dresses with silk lining to match petticoats and so forth.

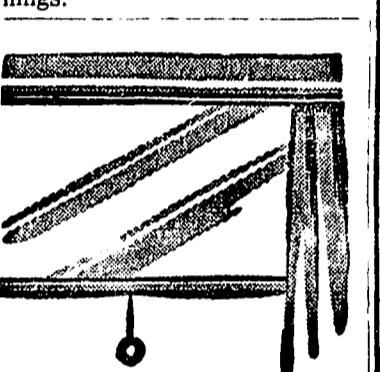

—Harlow nighties, bias-cut, ultra short and ruffled.

—Sweater-bras, in nude tone, rounded and slightly padded.

—The short-short slip and the petti-pant for the short-short dresses made popular by Frenchman Andre Courreges.

—The smooth-to-the-hip slip with tiers of ruffles for under the au-go-go dresses.

—Designer Geoffrey Beene followed up by sending his models onto the runway in the supple, body-clinging kind of garments that require the aforementioned kind of underpinnings.

Old Ways Still Seen
In New Red China

Editor's Note — The writer is a correspondent for the Southam Newspapers of Canada. His dispatches from China, distributed by The Associated Press, have been appearing in this newspaper.

By CHARLES LYNCH
CANTON, China (AP) —
Notes from a correspondent winding up a two-month assignment in China:

Near Canton, we passed peasants on treadmills, pumping water into the rice paddies. In another place, they were doing the job with dippers attached to long poles.

Everywhere there were the cargo rickshaws that degrade their haulers, even though the guide tries to persuade me they are a big improvement on the old carrying-poles, which incidentally are still very much in evidence.

I suppose a man, or a woman, should feel it is progress when he is relieved of a 100-pound load on a pole and told that from now on he will drag a 500-pound load in a rickshaw.

The largest commune of many I visited, contained 12,300 households and 51,780 individuals, with a laboring force of 19, 600.

Communes sound harsh when you put them down on paper, but the sight of so many people working so hard in a common cause, and to such obvious effect, is not something to be dismissed in a world where rural lethargy or the flight to the cities is the scourge of underdeveloped countries.

The communes of Red China are far more stimulating than her cities or her factories, and for sheer ingenuity and energy they mark the Chinese peasant as being in a class by himself.

The restaurants of Canton are fabulous, both in setting and cuisine, offering such goodies as stewed fish lips, braised big fish head with bean-curd, stewed boneless duck-webs with mushrooms, scrambled fresh milk, double-boiled sea-dog fish with chicken-feet, big skirt shark's fin, crab-fat juicy meat dumplings.

I saw watersnakes on sale at markets on the Pearl River waterfront, and being bought with relish. It was whispered to me that another local delicacy is cat, and they have a dish mixing snake and cat, called the "fight between the dragon and the tiger."

In the midst of my tour of China I was routed out of bed in Hankow to answer an urgent request from the Foreign Office.
What was wanted was a list of questions for a proposed high-level interview, presumably with Premier Chou En-lai or Foreign Minister Chen Yi.
The questions were dispatched. I am still waiting.

Francona's Homer Aids 7-3 Card Win

Rocky Returns Home

JERSEYVILLE — Old Rocky, 13-year-old red bone coon hound, is back once more in his kennel at the farm of Raymond Montague in Piassa Township, Jersey county, Illinois.

Rocky, who established a reputation years ago in the area as an outstanding coon hunter, was stolen in the fall of 1964, some time before the annual open season on fur bearing animals arrived.

The dog thief also took along three beagle hounds belonging to Montague. That was the last Montague heard of the fate of his sporting dogs until around June first.

Montague received a telephone call from long distance and the speaker at the other end of the line told Montague: "I am wanting to buy a good coon dog, and understand you might have one for sale. I hunted with another man last season and he had an unusually good dog which he said he had bought from you, and that you might have another for sale."

Montague obtained the name of the caller and inquired of the speaker if he knew the name of the party who claimed to have bought a dog from him. "Yes, I know him," the man on the other end of the line replied. Then Montague related how his dog had been taken and not sold.

About ten days ago, Montague saw a dog heading down the road toward his farm during the later evening hours. It was Rocky. The hound wagged his tail and cavorted in recognition of his old owner. Then he made for the dog house and stretched out on the cool earth before it, exhibiting weariness from an apparently long trip home.

What became of the three beagles? Montague reported that thus far he does not have a clue to their whereabouts.

CHICAGO (AP) — Tito Francona's tie — breaking three-run homer in the eighth off Lindy McDaniel gave the St. Louis Cardinals and Tracy Stallard a 7-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday.

McDaniel took over for starter Bob Buhl in the eighth after Dick Groat and Curt Flood singled. Francona tagged McDaniel's second pitch for his fourth homer of the season.

Buhl, who had asked to be traded because he contended he was being lifted too quickly, suffered his seventh loss against eight victories.

Stallard, boosting his record to 6-3, had a one-hitter going until there were two out in the seventh when Ron Santo tied the score at 1-1 with his 17th homer. St. Louis 100 000 042-7 12 0 Chicago 000 000 120-3 7 0

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Vic Power singled across the winning run with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning Friday, giving the Los Angeles Angels a 4-3 victory over Cleveland in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Don McMahon started the inning by retiring the first two batters. Then Joe Adcock singled and stole second. Bob Rodgers was walked intentionally, and pinch hitter Bobby Smith also walked. Power followed with a single over shortstop.

Pony-Colt League

Lions came up with four runs in the fourth inning to break a 3-3 deadlock and went on to defeat Jaycees, 7-3, and throw the Colt League into a two-way deadlock between the two teams.

The two teams both have 9-3 records, and each have three games remaining, none with each other.

A three-run second gave the Lions a 3-2 lead, but Jaycees rallied to tie in the bottom of the frame.

The four runs in the fourth came on a walk to Bud Pitts, an error on Odis Pitts' grounder, a walk to Abe Brown, a fielder's choice, a walk to Bob Dean, a single by Dave Marshall and a walk to Jim Lawrence.

In the Pony League game Byers Brothers broke a 4-4 tie with three runs in the sixth to score a 7-4 triumph over John Ellis.

The three runs in the sixth came on a walk to Terry Ormiston, a single by Chad Ormiston, a two-base throwing error, a walk to Bob Byers and a ground out.

Orioles Triumph 1-0 Over Chisox On Four Hitter

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles played a big-hitter double by Brooks Robinson and Milt Pappas' four-hit pitching into a 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox Friday night for their fifth consecutive triumph.

Robinson led off the Orioles' second inning with a grounder which took one bounce and flew high over third baseman Danny Cater's head for a double.

Boog Powell, who seems to be snapping out of a long slump, then singled to knock in Robinson. The hit extended Powell's hitting streak to seven games, during which he has knocked in five of the eight runs credited to him since May 15.

Boston Gains Split With Nats

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home runs by pitcher Earl Wilson and Jim Gosger helped Boston win the second game of a two-night doubleheader 10-1 Friday night after Washington won the opener 2-1 on Ed Brinkman's ninth-inning single.

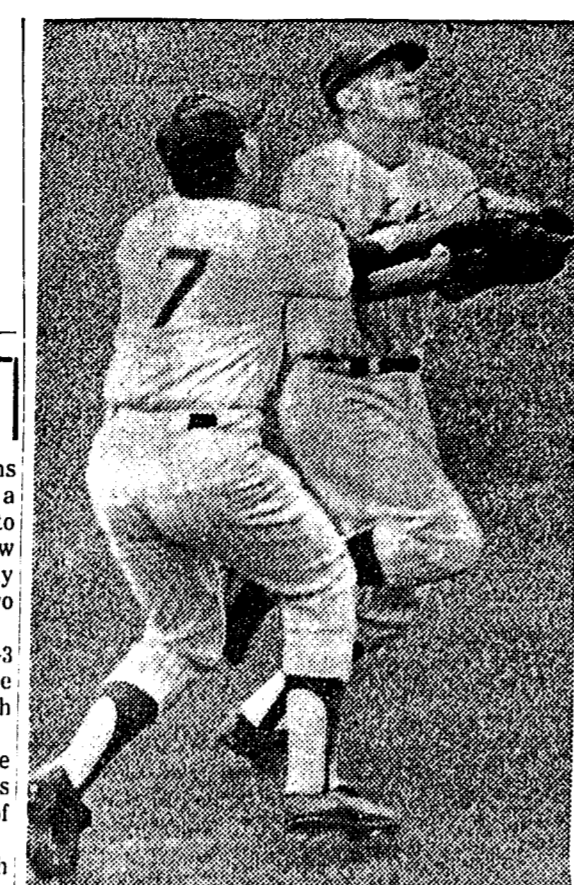

Gosger, recalled earlier in the day from Toronto, hit Buster Narum's second pitch for his first major league homer after going 0-for-5 in the opener. Gosger batted in two more runs with a single and sacrifice fly. Dalton Jones had five hits and Lee Thomas four in the nightcap as the Red Sox collected 18 hits and stranded 18.

Wilson allowed five hits, but two were consecutive singles by Ken Hamlin and Dick Nen in the fourth, and Hamlin scored on Willie Kirkland's sacrifice fly.

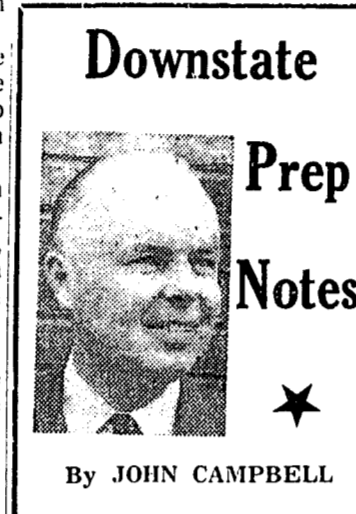

Kirkland's third-inning homer was the only run off Bill Monbouquette until the Senators rallied in the ninth in the opener. Frank Howard opened the inning with a single and Hamlin ran for him. Monbouquette fanned Nen's sacrifice bunt for an error, and both runners were safe.

Don Lock and Jim King fanned, the runners advancing on a double steal on King's strikeout, before Brinkman stroked the winning hit to center.

THE MET WAY—Any play is an adventure with the New York Mets as demonstrated, left, by Ed Kranepool (7) and Bobby Klaus and by Roy McMillan (11) and Chuck Hiller (2). Naturally, both balls fell in safely.

NL Pitching Staff Holds Decided Edge

By The Associated Press Records, reputation and experience are on the side of the National League pitching corps for Tuesday's All-Star baseball game at Minnesota-St. Paul.

All-Star veterans Don Drysdale of Los Angeles and Juan Marichal head the hard-throwing NL staff, which all told has five men who have competed in past midseason classics.

Only one American League pitcher has All-Star experience — Milt Pappas of Baltimore, who worked a total of two innings in the two 1962 games.

Manager Gene March of the Nationals chose Drysdale and Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, Jim Maloney and Sammy Ellis of Cincinnati, Marichal of the Giants, Bob Gibson of St. Louis, Bob Veale of Pittsburgh and Dick Farrell of Houston as his eight-man staff. Koufax and Veale are the only left-handers.

In addition to Pappas, Al Lopez of the Americans selected one man from his Chicago White Sox staff, relief ace Eddie Fisher, along with Sam McDowell of Cleveland, Mel Stottlemyre of the New York Yankees, Jim Grant of Minnesota, Bob Lee of the Los Angeles Angels, Pete Richert of Washington and John O'Donoghue of Kansas City. McDowell, Richert and O'Donoghue are southpaws.

All eight NL pitchers are starters, while Fisher and Lee of the AL are strictly relievers. The National's pitchers had a combined record of 84-40 through Thursday's games, led by Koufax's 14-3 and Ellis' 12-3. AL pitchers were 51-36, with Grant tops at 9-2 and O'Donoghue with the unlikely All-Star record of 4-11.

Drysdale appeared in five previous All-Stars, starting four, but his record for the fixture is 0-1. Marichal has been in three and has won two, including last year's at New York, where John Callison's three-run homer in the ninth inning gave the NL a 7-4 victory that tied the series at 17-17.

Farrell also has pitched in three, Koufax in two and Gibson in one.

Dominated From Right Since both starting line-ups are dominated by right-handed hitters, the starting pitchers probably will be right-handers. However, these coveted spots could go to the southpaw strikeout artists, Koufax and McDowell.

Mauch and Lopez will name their starters Monday. The line-up for the NL is first baseman Ernie Banks of Chicago, second baseman Pete Rose of Cincinnati, third baseman Richie Allen of Philadelphia, shortstop Maury Wills of Los Angeles, left fielder Willie Stargell of San Francisco, right fielder Willie Mays of San Francisco, right fielder Hank Aaron of Milwaukee and catcher Joe Torre of Milwaukee.

Stargell is the only lefty batter, although Wills and Rose are switch hitters. The AL line-up is first baseman Bill Skowron of Chicago, second baseman Felix Mantilla of Boston, third baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore, shortstop Dick McAuliffe of Detroit, left fielder Willie Horton of Detroit, center fielder Vic Davalillo of Cleveland, right fielder Rocky Colavito of Cleveland and catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota.

McAuliffe and Davalillo are the only left-handed batters. The triumph lifted the Phillies past the Giants into third place in the National League.

Bunning did not allow a hit until Tom Haller slammed a homer over the right-field wall with one out in the seventh inning. In the ninth Bunning was tagged for four additional hits, singles by Jim Hart, Haller and Len Gabrielson producing the second San Francisco run.

The victory was Bunning's fifth straight and brought his record to 10-5. San Fran. 000 000 101-2 5 0 Phila. 000 300 61x-10 10 2 Sanford, Murakami (4), Herbel (7) and Haller; Bunning and Corrales. W—Bunning (10-5). L—Sanford (4-3).

Home runs — San Francisco, Haller (6). Philadelphia, Callison (17).

The Detroit Tigers were shut out only six times in 1964, low for the American League.

British Open Title To Thompson After Yankee Aces Fade

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Peter Thomson of Australia emerged from the shadows of near obscurity Friday with a 285 total for his fifth British Open Golf Championship that placed him within one run of the immortal Harry Vardon.

The 36-year-old professional from Melbourne battled through rain and blustery winds for sub-par rounds of 72 and 71, completely smothering one of the strongest American challenges ever mustered.

Of the tour-toughened Yanks, only defending champion Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., made a fight of it, moving within one shot with two holes to play. But he faded with a fat six on the final hole and had to settle for a tie for fifth place.

With rounds of 75-74, Lema finished with 289. A tough little Welshman, Brian Huggett, and Ireland's Christy O'Connor were closest to Thomson with 287 and Roberto de Vicenzo, the long-hitting Argentine, was fourth with 288.

"I am lazy-no punch at the finish," De Vicenzo complained. Americas one-two golf punch of Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer blew sky high and finished down among the also-rans. The other member of the Big Three, South Africa's Gary Player, quit after firing a 79 in the morning round.

"My neck hurt too much," Player, the U.S. Open champion, said. "I saw no reason to continue."

Nicklaus, Masters champion and strong 3-1 pre-tournament favorite, started the final day with a bogey 5 and went from bad to worse. He shot rounds of 77 and 73 for 294 that would him a tie for 12th place and $371 in winnings.

Palmer Worse Palmer was worse. Fretting over his putting and failing to ignite one of his famous stretch runs, the Latrobe, Pa., strong boy struggled in with rounds of 75 and 79 for 295. The world's richest golfer pocketed exactly $322.

"I am sick," Palmer said. "My putting was atrocious." The only other American representative to survive to the last day, Terry Dill of Muleshoe, Tex., was happy with his two 78s that placed him at 305.

It was a good showing in a tough league. Thomson is a mild, quiet Australian who has a deep-seated antipathy for the American tour. He has gone to great extremes in recent years to avoid it, playing largely in England and in the Far East.

Even then his game has failed to produce the brilliant golf that won him three straight British Opens in 1954, 1955 and 1956 and fourth in 1958 after an interruption by South Africa's Bobby Locke.

Only Vardon, the famous English stylist who is credited with developing the overlapping grip, has a better record in this oldest of golf championships. Vardon won six.

Thompson Long Hitter Thomson is not an extremely long hitter, as the modern home-run hitters go, but he is exceptionally accurate, strong with his irons and an excellent putter. This—and a cold refusal to buckle under pressure—proved his trademark in the final rounds.

The Australian took the third-round lead from Lema and Australia's Bruce Devlin by shooting a 72 in the morning's impossible conditions. Then in the afternoon, with the rain subsided but the wind whipping the 7,037-yard, par 73 royal Birkdale links, Thomson showed his real mettle.

He moved three shots in front with nine holes to play. Lema first and then the long-hitting De Vicenzo made alternate charges at him.

"The course was firm and fast—I liked it," Thomson said. SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Final leaders in the 1965 British Open Golf Championship: Peter Thomson, $4,900

Reds Grab League Lead Via 6-2 Edge

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Edwards singled in Gordy Coleman with the tie-breaking winning run in the sixth inning as the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Milwaukee Braves 6-2 Friday night.

The victory, coupled with Los Angeles' loss to Pittsburgh boosted the Reds into first place in the National League, one-half game ahead of the Dodgers.

Jim Maloney scattered nine hits, earning his 10th victory and third straight over the Braves this season. He has lost four over-all.

Coleman led off the sixth with a single and went to second on a fielder's choice. He raced home on Edwards' line single to center.

Horton Ignites Tigers' Victory Over Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Willie Horton, who earlier smashed a mammoth home run, ignited a two-run rally in the 10th inning with a double as Detroit defeated Kansas City 7-5 and handed the Athletics their eighth straight loss Friday night.

Ray Oyler singled across the winning runs with a two-out, bases-loaded single after Horton doubled. Al Kaline was walked purposely and Don Wert singled.

Horton erased a 3-2 Kansas City lead in the sixth inning, clouting his 20th homer, with Norm Cash aboard.

The blow traveled an estimated 475 feet into a 9-mile-per-hour wind. It cleared a 40-foot high light standard about 410 feet from home plate and landed in a street behind the fence in left-center field.

Detroit 200 002 010 2-7 9 2 Kansas City 200 010 002 0-5 9 2 Sparrma, Wickhamers (4), Gladding (9), Sherry (10) and Freeman; Talbot, Hickman (7), Dyckson (7), O'Donoghue (9), Wyatt (10) and Bryan. W—Gladding (4-2). L—O'Donoghue (4-12). Home runs—Detroit, Cash (6), Horton (20).

Snell Loses 9th Straight Race

PRAGUE (AP) — Middle-distance master Peter Snell lost his ninth straight race Friday — but said he was encouraged and would keep trying — while two Polish girls broke the women's world record for 100 meters in the International Risky Memorial Track and Field Meet.

Snell, the 800 and 1,500-meter Olympic champion and for years practically unbeatable from one-half mile to a mile, said he was encouraged after his third-place finish and scotched reports he would retire immediately.

"I will continue to run and I am not going to quit before I reach my top form again," the New Zealander said. "The Prague run gave me some confidence. What I now want is some good training."

"I am not going to leave the track," he said. Snell had announced he would retire after his current tour. He had said if he lost the Friday race he would quit immediately.

Eva Klobukowska and Irena Kirszenstein of Poland broke the women's world record for 100 meters, finishing in 11.1 and breaking the old mark of 11.2 shared by Olympic gold medalists Wilma Rudolph and Wyomia Tyus, both from Tennessee State.

At first, Miss Kirszenstein was declared the sole record-breaker, with watches catching Miss Klobukowska in 11.4. A review of the films, however, showed there had been a mistake and her time was upgraded to 11.1.

Veale, Clemente Spark Pirates Past Dodgers 4-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Bob Veale's five-hit pitching and a two-run homer by Roberto Clemente carried Pittsburgh to a 4-1 victory over Los Angeles Friday night that knocked the Dodgers out of the National League lead.

The Dodgers' 13th loss in the last 20 games, coupled with Cincinnati's victory over Milwaukee, lifted the Reds back into first place by one-half game.

Clemente rammed his second homer of the season into the right-field seats in the fifth inning off reliever Nick White after Manny Mota beat out a bunt.

Los Angeles 000 000 001-1 5 1 Pittsburgh 000 020 20x-4 8 2 Podres, Willhite (3), Perranoski (6) and Torborg; Veale and Pagliaroni. W—Veale (9-6). L—Willhite (1-1).

Home runs—Pittsburgh, Clemente (2).

Twins Cop 8th Straight In 8-3 Win Over Yanks

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Don Mincher drove in four runs with a pair of long homers and Harmon Killebrew smashed a three-run homer, powering the American League-leading Minnesota Twins to an 8-3 victory over the New York Yankees Friday night for their eighth straight triumph.

Killebrew and Mincher slammed consecutive homers in a four-run first-inning explosion against Jim Bouton. Mincher also tagged rookie Jim Breneman, making his first major league appearance, for a three-run homer in the seventh.

Sandy Valdespino drove in the Twins' other run with a single in the fifth.

New York 000 110 010-3 6 3 Minnesota 400 010 30x-8 8 0 Bouton, Breneman (6), Blanco (8) and Howard; Boswell and Battey. W—Boswell (6-4). L—Bouton (4-9).

WANTED! MEN - WOMEN

from ages 18 and over. Prepare now for U. S. Civil Service job openings during the next 12 months. Government positions pay high starting salaries. They provide much greater security than private employment and excellent opportunity for advancement. Many positions require little or no specialized education or experience.

But to get one of these jobs, you must pass a test. The competition is keen, and in some cases only one out of five passes.

Lincoln Service has helped thousands prepare for these tests every year since 1948. It is one of the largest and oldest privately owned schools of its kind and is not connected with the Government.

For FREE information on Government jobs, including list of positions and salaries, fill out coupon and mail at once — TODAY.

You will also get full details on how you can prepare yourself for these tests. Don't delay — ACT NOW!

Morgan's Triple Sparks Houston To 6-2 Victory

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Morgan's bases-loaded triple high-lighted a five-run explosion in the second inning that carried Houston to a 6-2 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

The Astros loaded the bases against starter Jack Fisher in the second on Jim Wynn's double, a walk to Gus Triandos and an error by Chuck Hiller on Bob Lillis' pop fly. Morgan then lashed a triple into the right-field corner, clearing the bases. Gordon Richardson relieved Fisher and gave up a triple to Lee Maye and a sacrifice fly to Rusty Staub for two more runs. Staub also drove in Maye with a single in the first inning.

Houston broke a record set last week at the same track by Lloyd Ruby, who was clocked at 163.400 m.p.h. in a rear-engine Ford. Both Hurlbise and Ruby were testing tires in preparation for the Indianapolis 500 race Aug. 1 at the raceway. Ever add tomato puree as part of the liquid when you are cooking lamb stew?

Beardstown Woman Fatally Injured Friday

BEARDSTOWN — Mrs. Henrietta G. Green of Beardstown was fatally injured at 11:40 a.m. Friday when she was struck by a car at the intersection of Second and State streets in Beardstown's business district.

The driver of the car, 16-year-old Walter Blake, also of Beardstown, was not held by police, who report the accident is still being investigated.

Mrs. Green, who sustained severe head injuries, was taken to Schmitt hospital where she died at 2:35 p.m. without regaining consciousness.

Cass County coroner Stuart Brownback plans an inquest into the death.

Mrs. Green is survived by her husband, Edgar, a retired postal employee and a granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Hagan of Fayetteville, N.C. One son, Edgar, a World War Two bombardier, died in a plane crash.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p.m. Monday at the Beardstown Methodist church. Friends may call at the Cline Funeral Home.

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

Hattie Reveal, Former Greene Resident, Dies

WHITE HALL — Mrs. Hattie Elizabeth Reveal, 83, passed away at 1:30 p.m. Friday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Opal Zora of East Moline. Mrs. Reveal, a former White Hall area resident, had lived with her daughter for the past 25 years.

She was born in the Oak Grove area Feb. 9, 1882; daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth Schutz. She was married Sept. 17, 1899 to Charles W. Reveal, who preceded her in death in 1922.

Surviving are five sons: Kenneth and George, both of East Moline; Oren of Franklin, Mo.; and Phoenix and Woodrow of White Hall; six daughters: Mrs. Norma May and Mrs. Velma Hazelwood, both of Jackson, Mo.; Mrs. Zelma Dawdy of rural Roodhouse; Mrs. Eileen

Winners of Carrollton, Mrs. Wilma Carter of Sante Fe Springs, Calif. and Mrs. Opal Zora of East Moline.

Also surviving are two sisters: Mrs. Ada Marsh of Patterson and Mrs. Edith Farmer of Winchester; four brothers: Lewis Schutz of Galesburg, Charles and Orville of East Moline and Lee of Drake; 39 grandchildren and 56 great-grandchildren.

Three brothers and one sister preceded her in death.

Mrs. Reveal was a member of the First Baptist church, East Moline, where funeral services will be conducted Sunday. The body will then be taken to the home of Mrs. Zelma Dawdy, who lives northeast of Roodhouse, where friends may call after 6 p.m. Sunday.

Additional services are scheduled at 10 a.m. Monday at the Jacksonville Baptist church at Patterson with Reverend Raymond H. Carter of East Moline officiating. Burial will be in Pine Tree cemetery. The Dawdy-Wolfe Funeral Home, White Hall, is in charge of local arrangements.

STATE HOSPITAL OPENS DOORS OF ANOTHER WARD

Jacksonville State Hospital has added another ward to its "open section" in a program for increasing the effectiveness of therapy.

An open ward is one in which there are no locks and each patient has a grounds pass. As a therapeutic process, the absence of locks has proven to be of great benefit in patient treatment.

The ward most recently opened was A-4E containing 40 men. This is another step on the way to making the state hospital completely open.

Arenzville Unit To Donate Food For Fair Booth

ARENZVILLE — The Monroe Homemakers Extension Unit's June meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Oliver Meyer, with Mrs. Wilbur L. Meyer as co-hostess. Fourteen members and one guest, Mrs. Edwin Schnake, were present, answering roll call with "Chores for Children During Free Time."

Plans were made for providing food to be served at the Extension food stand at the Cass County 4-H Fair to be held in Virginia during the last week in August. The Monroe Unit will work at the stand from 7 until closing time on Friday, Aug. 27. In addition to designated donations of foodstuffs, members who have tomatoes, onions, cabbage or lard at fair time are asked to bring these commodities.

The major lesson, "Cooking for Vegetable Haters," was given by Mrs. George Huffman and Mrs. Robert McLin. They demonstrated the preparation of several dishes which the members sampled.

Mrs. Russell Norsiek presented the Special Feature, "Court-esties Your Child Should Practice," and the members discussed the topic at length.

Recreation was provided by Mrs. Elmer Roegge.

The next meeting will feature the Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H Club in demonstrations and displays of their 4-H projects. Mrs. Arminda Fischer will be hostess at her home on July 27. Each member is asked to bring a dozen cookies to be served as refreshments. Mothers of the 4-H club girls will be guests.

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

BIRTHDAYS FETED IN CAMPBELL HOME AT VERSAILLES

VERSAILLES — Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell entertained a group of relatives July 1st. The occasion marked the 86th birthday of Mr. Campbell's sister, Mrs. Cora Clark, and that of Marshall Cox.

Mrs. Wilma Pool, who has been a patient in Passavant hospital, returned to her home Sunday.

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bradbury were sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradbury of Ventura, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. William Bradbury of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bradbury of Farmington, Mich.

HURTUBISE ERASES RECORD

ATLANTA (AP) — Jim Hurtubise set a world speed record for a 1½-mile closed track Friday when he drove a high-powered Novi 164,500 miles per hour during tire tests at Atlanta International Raceway.

Hurtubise broke a record set last week at the same track by Lloyd Ruby, who was clocked at 163.400 m.p.h. in a rear-engine Ford.

Both Hurlbise and Ruby were testing tires in preparation for the Indianapolis 500 race Aug. 1 at the raceway.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Dorothy Spradlin of 604 South East street is a surgical patient at Holy Cross hospital.

Mrs. Clyde L. Taylor of Bluffs is a medical patient at Passavant hospital.

Mrs. T. M. Posers of Bluffs is a patient at Holy Cross hospital.

Mrs. Edward Tendick of Murrayville is a medical patient at Passavant hospital.
